

GOP Judges Withdrawal Best in This Case

PRESIDENT NIXON

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has come under mounting pressure from his own party in the Senate, reportedly including the GOP's No. 2 leader, to pull back his nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth to the Supreme Court.

Congressional sources indicated that Senate Republican Whip Robert P. Griffin suggested to the President during his Tuesday meeting with GOP congressional leaders that Haynsworth's name come down.

A spokesman for Griffin declined Wednesday either to confirm or deny the report. The spokesman said Griffin considered any conversation he had with the President as strictly confidential.

Griffin spearheaded the successful fight last year against President Johnson's attempt to appoint Abe Fortas chief justice.

There was no doubt other Senate Republicans were anxious to see the appointment of Haynsworth, now chief judge of the 4th U.S. Court of Appeals, withdrawn.

The only Negro senator, Massachusetts Republican Edward W. Brooke, Wednesday released a letter he had written to Nixon urging the President to withdraw the nomination or face an "embarrassingly" close vote and possibly even defeat.

Brooke became the first Republican senator to publicly urge withdrawal of the name and the first senator of either party to actually predict the nomination might be defeated.

Brooke declined to say how many committed anti-Haynsworth votes he came up with in his own nose count.

But he said he had found a substantial number of Republicans willing to break with tradition and go against their President.

"It's more than any five or six, I'll tell you that," he said.

An aide to Brooke put the total somewhat higher, saying "more than 10, or enough of a trend so the vote could be very substantial."

It was understood that Brooke acted without consulting the Senate Republican leadership and had hoped to jar some colleagues, who have been privately critical, into taking a public stand.

One that spoke up right away, was New York's Charles Goodell, currently the Senate GOP's leading maverick.

"A bold and courageous move," said Goodell who stopped short of seconding the call for withdrawal or even pledging his own vote against Haynsworth.

No White House Comment

There was no immediate comment from the White House on the Griffin report or the Brooke letter.

However, there were various reports about Nixon's reaction to Griffin's suggestion. One had it that the President caustically rejected the idea. Another report said Griffin was given a dressing down.

Nixon's latest public comment on the Haynsworth situation had come last Friday when he told a news conference he had no intention of taking Haynsworth's name from the lists.

Although criticism of Haynsworth—centering on civil rights decisions and extensive business deals that made him a millionaire while on the federal bench—has come from both sides of the aisle, most has been generated by Democrats.

Traditionally the Senate has been inclined to go along with a president's nominations.

Ten votes from the President's own party, however, would be enough to take some of the shine off confirmation, not to mention the impact that many could have if coupled with a sizeable turnout of the Senate's nearly 40 liberal members.

It also is not clear when the nomination will reach the floor.

'Heated' Session

The Judiciary Committee, after what was described as a "heated" session, Wednesday put off a vote until next week at the earliest.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., the leading Haynsworth opponent on the committee, suggested the postponement until he could get financial records that he says Haynsworth has failed to supply despite repeated requests.

The formal request for postponement, however, was made by Republican Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, a staunch Haynsworth backer, in an obvious effort to head off even more delay.

Stone Ridge Youth in Antiwar Protest

Eric Johnson, 21, of Stone Ridge (L) says his conscience dictated his refusal of induction into the Army at Albany Wednesday. To further his antiwar sentiments Richard Evans (R) of the Capital Area Peace Center, turned in Johnson's selective service card at an assistant U.S. attorney's office in the Federal Building. The protest, which was characterized as peaceful, included folk songs and speeches by the approximately 50 people assembled in front of the Albany induction center. Johnson was accompanied by his father, Oscar, and his pastor, the Rev. Wallace Randall, of the Rondout Valley United Methodist Church. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

A Cairo military spokesman said a joint Egyptian air-sea commando task force raided the Sinai Peninsula today for the second time in five days, inflicting heavy damage. Israel denied the report but sent its air force into action against Egypt and Jordan.

The Egyptian military spokesman said helicopter-borne commandos and naval commandos struck along a 23-mile front of the Israeli-held eastern shoreline of the Gulf of Suez and dealt the Israeli heavy losses.

Cairo reported an attack Sunday by airborne commandos against Israeli positions in the Sinai Desert and said this showed the Arabs had seized the initiative in the Middle East conflict. Israel denied those Arab reports too.

An Israeli military spokesman in Tel Aviv said "a lone Egyptian aircraft staged a harmless sortie, the second in four days, into the Israel-occupied Sinai Peninsula Wednesday night."

A military communique, without giving specific details, said the commandos escaped after the "completely successful" attack that caused heavy Israeli losses 40 to 63 miles below Suez City on the gulf.

"The Egyptian claims are entirely without any foundation whatsoever," said an Israeli spokesman in Tel Aviv. He said one Egyptian plane had dropped bombs along the Sinai's west coast without doing any damage.

This was the first raid involving Egyptian naval commandos since the 1967 war. Helicopter-riding Egyptian commandos struck into the Sinai Sunday, hitting along the Mediterranean shore.

The Sunday raid was the first of its kind and Egypt promised more of the same to counter almost daily Israeli air strikes across the Suez Canal and the Gulf of Suez.

Egypt said the targets in today's raid ranged from Ras Matarma 40 miles south of Suez City to Ras Malab, 23 miles farther down the coast.

No Ray Comment On the Charges

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON Mayor Raymond W. Garrahan refused to comment on charges of illegal financial transactions in his administration today and instead offered his views on a new swimming pool in the city.

On Wednesday, Republican mayoral candidate, James J.

Tyrrell, raised the question of illegal financial transactions by the Garrahan administration in regards to a fill operation for a baseball field on Ann Street in the Broadway East urban renewal area.

Tyrrell said then that he expected the administration "to take the matter lightly." Garrahan said today that he had no comment on the article in Wednesday's Freeman. City Clerk Thomas R. Lyle was not at his office today. One of his staff members said he called in and had taken the day off because of illness.

Tyrrell has charged that the city illegally paid $1,710 to the Wainwright Sand Corporation, without the approval of the Common Council, for fill used in the construction of a baseball field on Ann Street. Tyrrell also stated that the project should have gone to public bid since it was for more than $1,000, the maximum on non-bidding jobs.

'Difficult to believe,' is what Republican mayoral candidate James J. Tyrrell said of his opponent's promise to give top priority to the investigation of the possible construction of an indoor swimming pool. Story on page 2.

He has called for a full investigation of the matter by the Auditing Committee of the Common Council, headed by Emilio Primo Jr., Eighth Ward Democrat.

Contacted by The Freeman on the Mayor's refusal to comment on the case, Tyrrell said, "I am waiting for a report from the Auditing Committee of the Common Council. I notified them of my request by registered mail on Wednesday."

The mayor said he was in favor of a swimming pool but only if it were a joint operation by the city and the Kingston Consolidated School Board and only if it were an indoor swimming pool, open 12 months of the year.

Garrahan termed the swimming pool "one of the most important projects the school board could become involved in. The school board owes it to its students to have a swimming pool," Garrahan said. "Not everyone can play football."

Demand and Plea in Paris

PARIS (UPI)—The United States demanded today that the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong immediately start three-party talks with the Saigon government in an effort to settle the Vietnam War.

Chief U.S. negotiator Henry Cabot Lodge also appealed to the Communist delegations at the 36th session of the Vietnam peace talks to consider President Nixon's latest peace moves.

Lodge disclosed his latest negotiating tactics as he entered the four-party conference.

Diplomats predicted Lodge's renewed effort to get North Vietnam and the Viet Cong into direct talks with South Vietnam's negotiator, Pham Dang Lam, would fail.

Sources close to the Hanoi delegation said there was no hope of such direct talks. The sources said the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong have long written off President Nguyen Van Thieu's regime as a puppet of the United States.

Madame Nguyen Thi Binh, the Viet Cong's foreign minister, denounced the Saigon government last Friday as "a bellicose, rotten administration."

Lodge told newsmen he had no indication from the North Vietnamese that they would release information on U.S. prisoners of war as he demanded for weeks.

The North Vietnamese maintain the prisoners of war issue should be settled as part of the overall political solution. North Vietnamese negotiators are talking with groups of visiting U.S. wives of prisoners of war on the condition they are not seeking information on behalf of the U.S. government.

The Communist position at the talks has remained virtually unchanged for months. Madame Binh was back in Paris for the first time in three weeks and indicated that her conferences in Hanoi had showed "the United States clings to its position of aggression in Vietnam."

Another air tragedy in the Vietnam War today cost the lives of 26 persons aboard a C-2A Greyhound supply plane.

A Navy spokesman in Atsugi, Japan, said the plane crashed into the sea in the Tonkin Gulf off Vietnam on a flight from Cubi Point in the Philippines to an aircraft carrier on station.

All 26 aboard the craft were Americans.

Schovel Denies a Crisis

SAUGERTIES Saugerties Supervisor A. Michael Schovel in a sharply worded statement today denied there is "a financial crisis" in the Town of Saugerties and outlined several reasons.

Schovel's remarks were made in answer to Wednesday's Freeman article reporting that the town had overdrawn its account in a Saugerties bank 15 times.

Schovel cited these reasons: "Since last December the town general fund has been completely free of debt for the first time in over five years.

"There will be a surplus at the end of the year sufficient to carry through until next year's revenues come in.

"There is no financial crisis. All accounts have sufficient funds. The statement that 'funds are mighty low' is completely without fact. I cannot understand how a statement such as this could be made when the total funds of the Town of Saugerties on August 31 amounted to over $400,000.

"The overdraft was not made deliberately. It was due to a mixup in bookkeeping between the town clerk's office which makes out the checks and the supervisor's office which signs the checks.

"The general fund was low near the end of the third quarter because of several reasons. A check in the amount of $1,296 due the town was mailed by the state and was never received. The town had to wait until the

$75,000 Blue Mt. Fire

Six Horses Perish

By WALTER S. CLARK

TOWN OF SAUGERTIES

Officials are probing the cause of a blaze that swept a large block-frame stable on the Blue Mountain Riding Academy property Wednesday afternoon.

Six valuable horses were destroyed in the fire and damage was estimated between $60,000 and $75,000. Twenty-eight other horses in the corral some distance from the stable were saved.

One of the 40 volunteer fire fighters from Centerville and Cedar Grove was injured. The vols commanded by Chief Thomas Brennan, battled the flames for 1½ hours before bringing them under control.

Fireman Richard Houser of Centerville received injuries to the forehead. He was treated at the scene by the Saugerties Ambulance attendants.

The fire was discovered by Irving Krom Jr., manager of the riding academy and two other employees. They were attracted to the stable by smoke. Firemen were immediately summoned to the scene.

Chief Brennan said that when firemen arrived with five pieces of apparatus the building was enveloped in flames. Water from the booster tanks was pumped into the roaring flames and additional water was obtained from a make-shift pond on the property owned by Alphonse Persico of Brooklyn.

Brennan reported the six horses that perished in the flames were locked in the stalls and could not be reached because of the intensity of the flames and dense smoke.

Krom, who estimated the loss, said the horses were of the Appaloosa breed and were valuable.

The fire is under investigation by Zone Sgt. Donald Pinto and BCI Investigator John Salter of the Kingston State Police Zone Headquarters and fire officials.

EARTHQUAKE AFTERMATH—Employee of a Santa Rosa, Calif., supermarket starts cleaning merchandise which tumbled to the floor after a series of rolling earthquakes Wednesday night. The earthquakes shattered glass, broke power lines and frightened residents along a broad section of the California coast. The quakes lasted as long as 30 seconds. More than 20 persons were injured, one seriously. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Nixon Urged To Declare A Cease Fire

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield urged President Nixon today to seriously consider declaring an immediate cease fire by U.S. forces in Vietnam.

The Montana senator also proposed that the United States step up troop withdrawals from Vietnam to put pressure on Saigon to accept a coalition government to prepare for new elections.

Budget, Construction, Cars, Trailers

Ulster Sets Four Public Hearings

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

TOWN OF ULSTER

Town of Ulster residents in the next few months will have public hearings on the town budget, a $150,000 construction project, a junk car yard permit and revision of the trailer law.

Particulars on the four proposed hearings were reviewed at Wednesday night's Ulster Town Board meeting held at Lake Katrine Grange Hall.

In response to a request made at a recent public hearing on construction of a new town highway garage estimated to cost $125,000, Town Justice Arthur A. Reilly filed a report indicating that it would cost about $25,000 to remodel and expand the existing town garage near Ulster Hose Company firehouse, to include town offices for the supervisor and other staff members. This amount will be added to the estimated cost of a new town garage.

George Trowbridge, Conservative Party town chairman requested the Town Board to consider a public hearing on the town budget prior to election Nov. 4. Supervisor Thaddeus Musialkiewicz advised that the budget for next year is still being prepared and it is too early to set a hearing date until the final draft is completed.

Councilman Anthony Cicoria explained the progress being made on proposed revisions of the town's trailer law. He and Attorney John Gotelli, who represents several clients have reviewed proposed changes, and recommendations have been made to Town Attorney Seymour Werbalowsky. Musialkiewicz said the Town Board has met several times with the town attorney to review model ordinances from other communities and a final draft is nearing completion. As soon as the proposed local law is printed and presented for public review, a public hearing will be slated.

The establishment of a junk car crushing plant on a river front property was discussed at length. The supervisor noted that when the firm interested in the project is ready, an application for a junk car yard will be filed and a public hearing scheduled on approval of a permit.

John J. Reich, who represents Marine Salvage Co., Elizabeth, N.J., was contacted in September by Musialkiewicz to determine if he would consider establishing a junk car compacting center in the Town of Ulster to rid the town and surrounding area of junk cars. Since that time it has been reported that Reich and the property owners involved have reached a tentative agreement on leasing the waterfront site.

The Town Board approved a resolution for the transfer of $7,600 from the trust fund account to the Highway Department account on a request from Highway Superintendent Edgar P. Elliott. The trust account contains funds for the payment of employee retirement premiums due the state in 1970.

The transfer was approved by the State Board of Audit and Control. When town highway funds are available after the first of the year, the $7,600 will be replaced in the trust account.

Installation of street lights at Sky Top Road and Lucas Avenue Extension near the Thruway bridge was approved. Supervisor Musialkiewicz said

Award Rondout PO Contract To Epstein

Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk announced today that contract operation of mail service in the Rondout section of the city has been awarded to Joseph Epstein.

Epstein, a former Sixth Ward alderman, was the only person to submit a bid, Newkirk said. He will begin operation of the Rondout substation, to be located at 21 Broadway, on Nov. 1. The contract will expire on June 30, 1973.

The post office department will have to vacate its present address at 58 Broadway by Nov. 1, as the building is being taken by the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency.

Newkirk said the contract station will provide the same services as the present Rondout Station with much the same hours.

Tyrrell on Pool Idea... Difficult to Believe

KINGSTON — James J. Tyrrell, Republican candidate for mayor, said today that the promise by his Democratic opponent (Francis R. Koenig) to give top priority to the investigation of the possible construction of an indoor swimming pool (in Kingston) is "at best difficult to believe."

Another Tax Decrease For Town of Rosendale

ROSENDALE — A public hearing on the budget was scheduled for Nov. 5 at 7 p.m. in the town clerk's office.

In other business the board agreed unanimously to urge the County Park Committee to consider the Perrine's Bridge site in Rifton as the site for a new county park.

A motion was also made to support a proposal to have the county use sales tax receipts to reduce the property tax.

An invitation was accepted by the board to visit the Hidden Valley Lake, proposed recreational site in the Rosendale area.

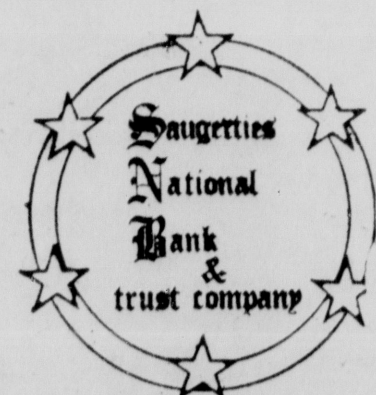

Panel Finds No Crime, Ends Aquarian Probe

MONTICELLO, N. Y. (UPI) — A grand jury which has probed complaints stemming from the Woodstock Music and Art Festival this summer reported Wednesday that it could find no laws broken or any other irregularities in the affair.

A Sullivan County grand jury began its investigation after citizens and officials in the town of Bethel area complained that the festival resulted in property damage and flagrant violations of laws.

The rock-music festival Aug. 15-17 drew an estimated 500,000 music-lovers, five times as many as the promoters prepared for.

Residents complained that local officials were lax in enforcing drug laws and sanitation regulations.

Contract Awarded to LaFrance For Two New Pumping Engines

KINGSTON: A contract for two new fully equipped pumping engines was awarded by the Board of Fire Commissioners at Tuesday evening's regular meeting.

The two engines will replace Engine No. 2, a 22-year-old vehicle, at Wiltwyck Fire Station on Fair Street, and Engine No. 3, 29 years old, at Cornell Fire Station on Abel Street.

Chief James M. Brett, reserve "for emergency use," large emergency fire, the last arriving platoon would use the older trucks. It would be similar to having two fire companies.

Retiring Detective Lt. Howard Honored at Testimonial Fete

KINGSTON: Retired Detective Lt. Lemuel F. Howard was honored recently at a testimonial dinner given by city hall employees and friends at Twaalfskill Country Club.

Howard retired recently after 31 years of service with Kingston Police Department. He was presented with the police badge he carried during his police service by Police Chief Francis Fagan.

He was appointed a regular patrolman on April 1, 1938 and his request for retirement as of Sept. 1 was accepted with sincere regret by the Board of Police Commissioners.

Howard C. St. John, a former district attorney of Ulster County, acted as master of ceremonies. Tributes were given by Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan, former Police Chief Robert F. Murphy, Alderman-at-Large T. Robert Gallo, Police Commissioner Thomas W. Henebery, District Attorney Joseph P. Torraca, City Judge

Hubert Richter and former County Judge William A. Kelly. District Attorney Torraca presented Howard with credentials as an honorary assistant district attorney. A color television set was presented on behalf of the employees and guests.

Others present were Mrs. Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Winchell, son-in-law and daughter, and three sisters, the Misses Mary and Geraldine Howard of Kingston and Mrs. Ruth Best of Watervliet.

Through the years, Howard has received many awards presented to him by the Police department, various Service Clubs and the Girl Scouts.

Howard, recognized as an expert in the field of safety and security, is expected to be available as a consultant in these fields.

Watson Sentenced To Elmira Reformatory

KINGSTON: Furman Watson, 21, of Modena, who was convicted last month by a County Court jury after trial of narcotics charges stemming from the massive raids last April, was sentenced to Elmira Reformatory Wednesday by Judge Raymond J. Mino.

Watson was sentenced to maximum terms of five years on each of four felony counts involving the sale of narcotics. He also was sentenced to three years on each of two misdemeanor counts involving criminal possession of narcotic drugs.

Assist. Dist. Atty. Philip Schunk prosecuted the case.

Francis Martocci, counsel for Watson, pleaded for leniency before sentence was passed. He contended that the evidence submitted at trial was not sufficient to substantiate a conviction. He also claimed that his client had never smoked marijuana cigarettes before or after the day authorities claimed they obtained evidence, and that on that day he was given a marijuana cigarette by an undercover agent and Watson became sick after taking two or three puffs.

Legislature to Receive Proposal For Court House Metered Parking

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON — A plan to convert the present metered parking facility at the Ulster County Court House to a time recorder system, in which motorists secure a ticket from an automatic dispenser and later pay an attendant for the amount of time they park, will be presented at the Oct. 9 meeting of the Ulster County Legislature.

The proposal is to be made in the form of a resolution authored by the six Republican city representatives of the County Legislature, Addison Jones, Melvin Mones, Samuel Perry, Clarence Raichle, John Sangaline and Wendell E. Scherer. They ask that a feasibility study of the proposal be made in view of the fact that similar systems are operating successfully and producing income in other cities and counties.

The resolution is also based on the contention that the Sheriff's Department, which presently oversees the parking lot is busy with its prime and regular duties and cannot effectively police the present parking meter system. It contends also that the service performed by the Sheriff's Department is costly and the parking lot is an added expense to the county.

Democratic Legislator Paul Brazier of District 1 (Saugerties) will ask the Legislature to request the postmaster general, New York's two U. S. Senators and Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. to do whatever possible to cease the sending of immoral mail to unsolicited addressees.

S. Robert Kelder, (R-District II) chairman of the Youth Guidance Committee, will present a resolution calling for the approval of a unit of study on county government for use in secondary schools and civic organizations.

Kelder says that information pertaining to Ulster County government is not readily available and points out that the Youth Guidance Committee has compiled a unit of study which could now be used.

A resolution calling for the acceptance of bids on furniture for Phase II of the Ulster County Community College building program will be offered by Legislator Robert Kuhlmann (R-District 10).

The bids for technical laboratory furniture and equipment were received in the amounts of $3,680 from B. L. Haver Sales Company and $5,348.45 from Syracuse Supply Company.

Two resolutions will be submitted for consideration by Mones. He will ask that an office of consumer protection be established in the county under the jurisdiction of the district attorney's office. The second measure will call for appointing John A. Power as assistant public health engineer at a salary of $8,775, pending a civil service examination.

C. Freeman Lasher (R-District 1) will ask the board to authorize payment of a claim from the City of Kingston regarding the "Certiorari claim" for $5,552.91 charged against funds for refunds of 1962 through 1969 taxes. The properties involved are 33-35 North Front Street, 175 Pearl Street, 324 Wall Street and 259 Fair Street as well as Penn Central Railroad property.

Still another resolution will ask the suspension of a section of Local Law No. 2 of 1965. This law stipulates the date the budget officer must file a tentative budget.

Resolutions pertaining to property inventory, a postal room and the purchasing, details of which are still being drawn, are also expected to be presented.

Six resolutions will be submitted by Legislator Joseph Martorana (R-District 9). All will pertain to forms of transportation with two relative to railroad crossing signals, one calling for an investigation of railroad accidents, another asking the establishment of a county highway safety program and still another asking the creation of a Mid-Hudson Transportation Authority.

Martorana also will ask that the County Airport sites be re-evaluated.

Final Hearing for Marbletown Zoning on Oct. 16

MARBLETOWN — The final hearing on a Marbletown zoning proposal has been scheduled for Oct. 16 at 8 p. m. in the Marbletown School in Stone Ridge.

Announcement of the hearing was made at a meeting of the Marbletown Town Board Wednesday night by Stanley Walker a member of the Zoning Board. The hearing will be held prior to the proposals being submitted to the town board for its consideration.

Bids are being accepted by the town for a used ambulance in the amount of about $6,000 for use by the Marbletown Rescue Squad at High Falls, according to Councilman Edwin B. Shumate.

The volunteer squad of about 40 members is currently operating a 1957 Cadillac ambulance. The bidding for a newer vehicle will call for more modern life-saving equipment.

William Suepfle, a volunteer head of the Marbletown Recreation Center presented a year-end report which stated that plans are being made for an outdoor skating rink at the Marbletown Recreation Center and the addition of one more life guard at the center's swimming facility. An additional guard would bring the total to five to serve the 250 youngsters who use the facility.

As I have said in previous statements," he said, "a town supervisor must be more than a shop-keeper, he must be an idea man and a leader of the town board."

Dutchess Candidate Gives Views

RHINEBECK — Republican-Conservative candidate for Town Supervisor, William (Bill) Allen, today came out for greater communication with the public in several forms.

He said, "I will bring town government to the people through occasional town meetings in various parts of our town, and through periodic supervisor's reports in local newspapers."

He also stated that more communication with other branches of local, county and state government would be undertaken.

Other platform innovations include "reorganization of the town board, whereby each man will have his functions and responsibilities." The present Rhinebeck board has no such delineation of duties.

Allen spoke in favor of zoning. The planning for this project has been underway for more than two years, and action is expected to be taken sometime this fall on the fully prepared zoning ordinance.

Another sore point in the town was hit with Allen's statement that he will "enforce or repeal current town ordinances." Much ado has been created about the lack of enforcement of its junk car ordinance, and a new dog ordinance has yet to be tested thoroughly.

Other ideas which the candidate will try to implement include conducting an annual review of tax exempt properties, in cooperation with the assessors. With more county and state control over assessment threatened, those in favor of local assessment have been making renewed efforts to deal fairly and equitably.

A reexamination and reappraisal of the town's recreation program is also promised. Several youth factions have complained about the lack of such space and functions.

Allen continued, "I want to formulate a long range road improvement program in cooperation with our Highway Superintendent, together with the establishment of a capital reserve fund, and take advantage of state bid prices wherever possible."

"As I have said in previous statements," he said, "a town supervisor must be more than a shop-keeper, he must be an idea man and a leader of the town board."

'SKIMMING' TESTIMONY — Army sergeants accused by Army investigators as being involved in fund raffle and kickback racket at service clubs on U. S. BONN (UPI)—Foreign Ministers conferred in Bonn in a suite of offices maintained by the North Rhine-Westphalian state government. The meeting broke up at midnight. Brandt and Scheel remained behind to write the agreement.

A Conciliatory Move

LONDON (UPI)—Communist China has sent the head of its trade mission back to Moscow in the first conciliatory gesture in years of Sino-Soviet conflict, Communist diplomatic sources said today.

It was the first tangible reaction to the recent Sino-Soviet summit in Peking between Premier Chou En-Lai and Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin. Red China had called home its trade mission from Moscow several years ago.

Moscow is still waiting for a sign that Communist China is prepared to enter talks with the Soviet leadership on possible ways to ease their serious differences, the sources said.

The Soviet Union expects no easy or fast solutions even if Peking does respond to the diplomats said.

Fort Benning Another Target

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators following a trail of alleged multimillion-dollar graft involving the operations of service-men's clubs from Germany to Vietnam have a new target—Fort Benning, Ga.

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff's investigations subcommittee scheduled testimony today from Army investigators concerning their probe into allegations of illegal activities by top-ranking sergeants running noncommissioned officers clubs on the huge southern post.

Ft. Benning's NCO clubs were brought into the inquiry Wednesday when Ribicoff said many of the sergeants allegedly involved in skimming profits from overseas clubs had managed to be transferred to the Georgia base.

Ribicoff said a small clique of sergeants—whom he said used their stripes as camouflage for raids on club funds—perfected a system of controlling their transfers from base to base.

Thus, he said, members of the group—one witness has called them criminal conspirators—were always transferred to the same base at about the same time—first from Germany to Vietnam and then to Ft. Benning.

The senators also were told Wednesday protective payoffs siphoned from money stolen from slot machines were spread over the upper echelons of the 24th Infantry division in Germany—including the office of its commanding general, Maj. Gen. William A. Cunningham III.

Another witness said Cunningham vetoed all requests for an expanded investigation into the thefts—estimated to total more than $1 million for a four year period.

Cunningham, however, denied he failed to take steps to halt any thefts.

"There was always mismanagement but I can assure you every action was taken care of properly at the time," Cunningham said in Gainesville, Fla., Wednesday.

Cunningham, who said he would "do anything possible to protect my good name," declared "This is something that happened four, five and six years ago. I do not recall the exact circumstances."

But he said there is "no validity" to the accusations, and added: "I don't know enough of the details of the charges. I am sitting up here and don't know what's going on."

Ribicoff said Wednesday he has ordered that hearing transcripts be sent to Cunningham and all other persons cited in testimony. He said the general would be permitted to testify if he desired.

Cunningham retired in 1955 and is now an official of the Lanier Islands Development Authority, a state-chartered agency developing islands in Georgia's Lake Sidney Lanier for recreational use.

Plan Flexible Laws For Marijuana Users

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Nixon administration is preparing more flexible laws dealing with marijuana users—perhaps aimed at treating them as more a medical than a criminal problem.

"We want to provide penalties for marijuana use and possession more in tune with the dangers of the drug," said an aide in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW).

He revealed Dr. Roger O. Egeberg, the government's top health officer and an advocate of less stringent marijuana laws, has been meeting with Justice Department officials, including Atty. Gen. John N.

Mitchell to hammer out a new approach.

The Justice Department declined comment. Asked if a new position on marijuana laws was expected soon, a department spokesman said he could not reply.

Out of Proportion
Egeberg said recently, "What I feel is that the penalties for the use or the sale of marijuana are out of proportion to the importance of marijuana."

The federal law for possession of marijuana provides for 2 to 10 years imprisonment for a first offense, 5 to 20 years for a second offense, and 10 to 40 years for further offenses, as well as fines of up to $20,000.

Use Is Increasing
Among high school and college youth, who know marijuana as "pot," "grass," "weed," and other names, use of the drug is increasing, experts say. How much is not known.

But Dr. Stanley F. Yolles, director of the National Institute of Mental Health, made these observations recently for a Senate juvenile delinquency subcommittee:

—A recent survey of some 16 schools suggests that as many as 50 per cent of students in certain city and suburban areas have had some experience with marijuana.

—An estimated 8 to 12 million persons in the United States have used marijuana at least once.

—Worldwide, marijuana is an intoxicant second only to alcohol in popularity and is used by some 200 million to 250 million people.

Risks in Cutoff Date

Senator Charles E. Goodell's proposal for a complete pullout of all United States troops from Vietnam by December, 1970, is unrealistic. We agree with Governor Rockefeller, who appointed Goodell to fill the vacancy created by the death of Senator Robert F. Kennedy, that the time limit is ill-advised and undermines President Nixon.

If Congress should pass such a law, which there is very slight chance of them doing, the Communists could continue to slaughter U.S. soldiers and innocent South Vietnamese until the cutoff date.

Goodell contends that his proposal is designed to help President Nixon and Congress develop a workable plan for ending American participation in the war. This is commendable, but it is certain to complicate negotiations in Paris and encourage a hard-line by Hanoi. After the December pull-out plan was announced, Henry Cabot Lodge, who heads the U.S. peace negotiating team, reported that the Communists were never so unyielding. They had nothing to talk about. Why should they?

"Any incentive for the enemy to negotiate is destroyed if he is told in advance that if he just waits 18 months, we'll be out anyway." This was President Nixon's answer to the plan and it was well taken.

To tell the enemy he can win just by waiting is to undercut and destroy efforts to hasten and secure a peace settlement.

We support the eventual complete removal of our men from Vietnam, but to telegraph the date to our enemy only hardens his face against all proposals for peace.

U.S. Illiteracy Drive

Education's moon landing—the target for the decade ahead—is to assure every American the "right to read." That was the way U.S. Commissioner James E. Allen kicked off the Nixon administration's drive on illiteracy before the National Association of State Boards of Education in Los Angeles this week.

Citing data that 25 per cent of the nation's students have significant reading deficiencies and 50 per cent read below expectations, Allen said that 50 per cent of jobless youngsters are functional illiterates and 75 per cent of juvenile offenders in New York City are two years retarded in reading.

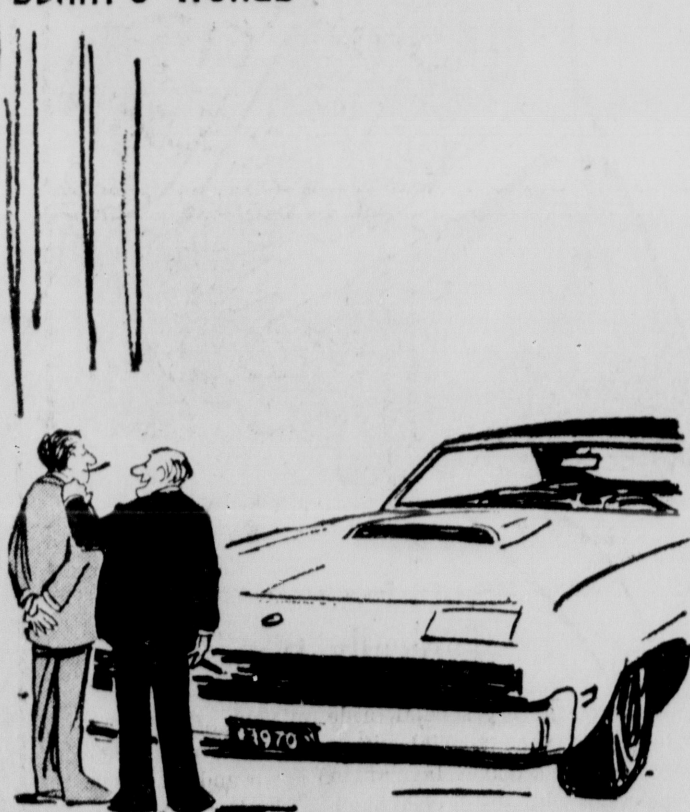

Therefore, Allen called on the state boards of education to set for themselves the goal of assuring that by the end of the 1970s the right to read shall be a reality for all—that no one shall be leaving school without the skill and desire necessary to read to the full limit of his capability.

Federal aid to schools has provided funds for attacking such problems as that of improvement in reading. Allen neither proposed new legislation or committed the administration to any specific spending targets. His suggestion was that the federal government has a vital supportive role to play in helping the states and local school systems man the front lines against illiteracy.

This revelation that millions of Americans cannot read is shocking. As Allen put it, it is an intolerable deficit, which contributes to our social ills. Lifting it may well be education's moon for the 1970s.

Not only new cars but also accessories are going to cost more next year. It is going to make it a little harder to make do with that old car. Replacement parts will cost nearly four per cent more.

David Lawrence Says Are State, City Authorities Afraid of Demonstrators?

WASHINGTON — Many writers are trying to describe the "mood of America" today but it is difficult to put in words the people's "state of mind" growing out of a variety of problems.

The violations of law and order are not always related to demonstrations against the Vietnam War or to racial troubles. The rise, for instance, in crime — including rapes, robberies, assaults and murders — has frightened people so that they fear to leave their homes at night.

Racial friction, to be sure, is increasing rather than diminishing, and lots of white people who have been somewhat passive in their attitude are beginning to grow angry. Some observers think that the "Civil Rights" leaders are hurting the cause of the Negro and that sooner or later the antagonisms between the races will become much more bitter than ever before, especially if white workers are deliberately denied jobs to make way for Negroes.

What is puzzling at the moment perhaps is the alleged apathy or indifference of many people to what is occurring. The truth is there is no clear understanding of where responsibility for maintenance of law and order begins or ends.

Within the last few days police and national guardsmen were required to prevent further trouble when the Wisconsin Legislature convened in special session. Earlier in the week a Roman Catholic Priest who is a "civil rights" activist had led 1,000 demonstrators who broke down the doors of the Assembly Chamber and occupied the room for 10 hours. But the significant words in the News Dispatch were: "no arrests were made."

The public wonders whether state and city authorities are afraid of the demonstrators. Certainly any such invasion of a state capitol constitutes an offense which is punishable. The wrath of the members of the Wisconsin legislature was aroused, and there were demands for the punishment of the participants. The feeling throughout the country is that, unless severe measures are taken to deal with demonstrators who produce disorder, the disturbances will rise in number and intensity.

One of the most flagrant examples of indifference to law are the recent episodes in which "civil rights" leaders, mostly Negroes, have demanded large sums of money in "reparations" from churches. Attempted extortion has been going on in different parts of the country as threats have been made that, unless funds are provided to "correct injustices" suffered by Negroes over the past 300 years, force will be used. If anybody went into a bank and demanded money under threats of violence, there would be no question about the duty of the police to arrest the individual concerned.

There is, to be sure, discontent about the war in Vietnam. Many people do not realize the dangers involved in a humiliating retreat from Vietnam by the United States.

The outcries by various members of Congress and by peace organizations are doubtless encouraging the Hanoi Government to make no concessions at the Paris Peace table.

While there is a natural desire for the war to be ended as early as possible, the risks in such a course are not readily understood. Already newspapers abroad are wondering about the effects of American strategy. The London Daily Telegraph last Saturday said:

"What must seem remarkable is that there have been no voices raised in America demanding that, unless the Communists agree to talk business, America should occupy the main towns in the north. The North Vietnamese have always said they intended to beat the Americans because of gradually growing American home opposition to the war. They seem to be achieving just that. But what do the millions of 'silent Americans' think about it all?"

There are plenty of grievances on the part of the electorate in every administration. Today the high cost of living, as inflation continues, is affecting households everywhere.

All these subjects may account for the different protest movements and worries as government, federal, state and local — is confronted with cumulative responsibilities to maintain order at home. Meanwhile, the United States strives to thwart those maneuvers of the Communists which could bring on World War III.

House scene, the high-powered NSC aides are generally rudderless and repeatedly in some conflict.

Other factors are involved in the departures. Kissinger runs his staff a little like an isolation ward, with lips well-buttoned. There are oblique hints, too, that Nixon officials whose main concerns are domestic have cut off at least one important matter from among the flood of requests and problems the law-makers dump into White House channels. Scratch most any GOP congressman or senator any day and you can get a flow of complaints—political, personal and otherwise.

Some appraisers say the White House staff as a whole is much too big, too "heavily layered," and that many staff people do not know each other. Efficiency still seems a distant dream.

Kissinger is away often because he shadows Nixon closely — at the President's wish. But with no substitute quarterback on the White

Jack Anderson Says Mafia Dope Dispenser Sets Up Shop Under Nose of FBI

WASHINGTON — Only the most indiscreet racketeer would set up operations on the home grounds of the FBI, the Federal Narcotic Bureau and several stern congressional investigating subcommittees.

Yet a dapper, wavy-haired New York mobster, described in confidential government files as "a trusted member of the Mafia inner circle," recently opened an expensive apartment in midtown Washington and paid a year's rent in advance.

This has led federal agents to wonder whether the Mafia, which has stayed clear of Washington in times past, may now be moving into the nation's capital.

For not only has Enrico "Harry" Tantillo, a notorious Mafia figure, rented a Washington apartment, but other gangsters reportedly are offering Mafia money to Washington businessmen caught up in debts.

The Cosa Nostra has used the loan racket to take over legitimate businesses in Chicago, New York City, New Orleans and many other cities. But Washington, where businessmen are often only a walk away from the FBI office or Capitol Hill, had been thought free of Mafia shyness.

The 53-year-old Tantillo left his previous haunts in the Bronx allegedly to oversee the dope trade in Washington. He is known to be associated with "Big John" Ormento and Innocenzo "John the Bug" Stoppelli, two of the nation's major heroin traffickers.

Tantillo was picked up along with more than 30 others in a District of Columbia drug sweep. Agents were frankly startled to find such a big fish in their net. They claim to have found a half-kilogram of cocaine in his apartment, according to a bond-hearing statement of Assistant U.S. Attorney Harold Sullivan. The cocaine is worth some $120,000 on the street.

The brazenness with which the Mafia drug case developed, as recorded in filed affidavits, has shocked federal agents accustomed to a Mafia-free capital city.

Tantillo selected an apartment, for instance, only a few blocks from the FBI, Narcotics Bureau, and Metropolitan Police headquarters. He also chose the fashionable Hotel America for meetings with Carmine

"Chow Mein" Paladino, now under indictment with him in a New Jersey federal narcotics case. All the while, the hotel happened to be housing Narcotics Bureau trainees from all over the U.S.

Note: The well-dressed Tantillo, who ran a pastry shop along with his narcotics business, is well known to law enforcement men. His arrest records date back to 1935, including possession of a revolver, obstructing justice, influencing a witness and previous narcotics violations. Confidential government files also charge that he "supplies wholesale quantities of heroin" to underworld customers.

Nasser to Nixon
Egypt's President Nasser sent a message last month to President Nixon asking what the United States would do for his country if Soviet influence should be reduced.

Apparently the suspicious Nasser had been listening to rumors that his long-trusted comrade, Aly Sabry, had been dealing behind his back with Moscow. Nasser might even have feared that Moscow was conspiring to install Sabry in his place.

Nixon's reply to Cairo didn't go much beyond warm words and general assurances. Therefore, Nasser let it be known that the U.S. reply was completely unacceptable.

Eleemosynary Story
Under manager Ted Williams, the Washington

PIXIES® by Wohl

Senators baseball team has just completed its first winning season in 10 these many years. Overlooked in all the happy, howling crowds at Robert F. Kennedy Stadium, however, were the wounded Vietnam veterans and other hospitalized soldiers who used to get free box seats for the games.

The new club managers handed out only general admission tickets to the patients at Washington's Walter Reed Army Hospital. Men in bandages and with crutches were obliged to hobble to the top of the great stadium to watch the games from the highest bleachers. Because the soldiers in wheelchairs couldn't make it, they were allowed to park their wheelchairs precariously on the ramps.

Explained Oscar Molomot, the promotion manager: "We are a business, not a eleemosynary institution. Seats are our stock in trade like coats on the rack in a clothing store."

Although he couldn't afford to let wounded veterans sit in the box seats, he offered this column free tickets for next season.

Gromyko and Kissinger

After President Nixon's recent speech at the United Nations, White House aide Henry Kissinger buttonholed Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and asked him what he thought of the speech.

Gromyko fended off the question, saying he didn't think of a speech as good or bad. Since he was preparing to deliver his own speech the following day, he promised that he would "try to be constructive tomorrow."

This was the reason, Kissinger replied, that the United States "tried to be constructive today."

Later Kissinger introduced Mrs. Shirley Temple Black, the former child movie star, to Gromyko. Although Mrs. Black has spoken against the United Nations in her California political campaigns, President Nixon has now appointed her to our UN delegation. Gromyko, the diplomat, told her politely that the U.S. delegation would be "all the more powerful" because of her presence.

Henry J. Taylor Says U.S. Needs an Ally in Greece

Greek Prime Minister George Papadopoulos is feeling a new and undercover pressure while pro-Soviet propagandists here and abroad whoop it up for the fall of this NATO-member government.

Behind the scenes, and with Moscow's usual hidden force and total cynicism, the tool is the International Labor Organization (ILO) in Geneva, Switzerland.

Our United States taxpayers are overwhelmingly the ILO's largest supporters. But, although the ILO has an American director-general, the Communist countries have all but taken it over. And the ILO's dangerous anti-American, anti-NATO attack involves Red-bending the 400,000 member General Confederation of Greek Labor (GSEE).

It is spearheaded by United Arab Federation of Labor delegate Ahmen Fahim, who is actually a chief in President Gamal Abdel Nasser's secret police. The stooge Bulgarian, Hungarian and Polish delegates are also part of this wily conner's spearhead — from men for the U.S.S.R.

Greece is today the only Balkan nation outside the Iron Curtain. But the people know well the Reds. Greece lived longer under the Nazi invasion and occupation than any of our NATO allies. Yet in all those long, horrible years her casualties did not equal the incredible 250,000 Greek men and women killed during the Communists' two subsequent attempts to take over Greece.

Hardly realized by our public, every mile of this lovely land's 300-mile northern frontier borders on a Communist country. Left to right, these are: Albania, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria — all Red and all ready. Greece dangles like a plum under them.

I have spent long periods in Greece and have always liked the Greeks — as the people, their colorfulness, their history, their bravery.

You find the true Greece in the hinterlands. There, most peasants still measure time by the ancient ruins and in donkey hours of travel. There, the word for a friendly American translates as "guest" and you encounter at once the peasants' simple delight in doing anyone a service.

I was in Greece during each of the two Red take-over attacks after the war and again during the third attempt in April, 1967. From Salonika in northern Greece, the country's second largest city, I moved that April the entire distance along the three Red borders.

The conveniently mountainous terrain made (and still makes) guerrilla infiltration ideal. I saw the infiltrations grow and widen as infiltrations did by the Red North Vietnamese against South Vietnam. It seemed apparent that someone had to act or Greece was on the verge of being another South Vietnam or a Castro's Cuba.

Ten and Twenty Years Ago

Oct. 2, 1949 — Bids will be received this month for construction of a new bridge over Rondout Creek near Accord, according to information revealed by Sen. Arthur H. Wicks.

Two High Falls brothers escaped with minor injuries Sunday night when the car in which they were riding plunged down a 20 foot embankment into Wallkill River at New Paltz, state police reported.

Oct. 2, 1959 — Kingston Board of Education Consolidated took cognizance at its Thursday meeting of a letter asking that it take steps to earn interest on district bank deposits.

Some 60 to 70 state troopers, sheriff's men and trained woodsmen entered the woods at Winnisook Lake early this morning to continue the long frustrating search for five-year-old David Raleigh of Fayetteville, who disappeared in that area in Mid-June.

It seemed equally apparent that at least four nationwide resentments, justified and boiling over in the hinterlands, opened the way for Communist Putsch No. 3: (1) the government corruption; (2) the size and venality of the bureaucracy; (3) the callous exploitation of government-sold public service franchises; and (4) the endless donthingness of the parliament.

The April 21, 1967, military Putsch resulting in today's government was an anti-Communist Putsch totally dictatorial, as was the Red Putsch itself, and largely remains so. But America's interest, not Russia's, is served. Greece is our country's NATO partner and it fully supports NATO—and our foreign policies as a whole — whereas the Red attackers publicly swore to withdraw Greece from NATO and remain as anti-American as Castro himself, or Hanoi.

Accordingly, under the surface and hidden from our public's view, the new attack through the big General Confederation of Greek Labor is violently anti-American, anti-NATO, anti-Western, anti-defense and pro-Communist, pro-Soviet.

In Greece all labor union leaders must be employed in the industry they represent for at least 100 days a year to qualify for their union leadership. A union can call a strike for only three days without the voted approval of its rank-and-file members. Compared to ours, Greece's labor union laws are restrictive. But compared to Soviet and satellite labor laws, Greece's are so liberal that it is totally cynical and preposterous for the Communists to condemn them. Handsome is as handsome does, even if this truism means absolutely nothing to Red propagandists.

The Soviet newly threatens the free world in the Mediterranean. We need an ally, not an enemy, in Greece. And we need a stronger voice at the ILO in Geneva. For the disgrace to us in this powerful and dangerous anti-Western attack is that we have allowed the ILO to keep it under cover.

Stakes Too Great for U.S. Spy Net in Berets' Trial

By RAY CROMLEY

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)

Several points must be noted in connection with the trial of the CIA had any connection with the alleged murder. Even if the CIA had, by some strange quirk, permitted its men to tell their stories, it is almost certain Resor and Laird would have had to find some reason for dropping the cases.

It was becoming more and more clear that for the trial to be fair, it would be necessary for both defense and prosecution witnesses (whether CIA or not) to bring out details of U.S. intelligence operations in Southeast Asia and techniques used in intelligence infiltration worldwide that would have put the lives of considerable numbers of American operatives in serious jeopardy. Entirely apart from the act of alleged murder, the trails inevitably would have led to the surfacing of American intelligence missions and CIA operations seriously harmed their effectiveness whether or not that would have been deliberate to U.S. security. To clear up the cases, it would have been necessary to tell in quite some detail now orders are transmitted, how intelligence missions are carried out and where (in some cases), how agents relate to other agents and how the security of each man depends on the absolute reliability of other agents, and how counteragents are exposed.

It has been asserted by some, for example, that Thai Khac Chuyen was a double agent and that his "exposure" came about as the result of a photograph taken in Cambodia or some such place where he reportedly was conferring with North Vietnamese agents. For this to become evidence in a trial it would have to be shown how and where the photograph was taken, who took the photograph, in part how the photographer and the intelligence network operated in Cambodia and wherever else was pertinent, what Thai Khac Chuyen was doing precisely and who were his contacts. It is likely this would expose a number of North Vietnamese co-operating with U.S. and South Vietnamese intelligence.

The testimony, also of necessity, would have to concern itself with the organization and chain of command of intelligence operations and the relationship between these Special Forces units and CIA and Vietnamese intelligence units. Now it might be said that such parts of the trial could be held in secret session. But if there is one rule of intelligence it is this — that no secret is a secret any longer if even a handful of outsiders learn of it, regardless of how great their integrity.

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 29 — President Nixon receives a vote of confidence from 60 per cent of Americans, but his standing today is below that recorded for his three immediate predecessors, Presidents Lyndon B. Johnson, John F. Kennedy and Dwight D. Eisenhower, after a comparable length of time in office.

All three Presidents enjoyed popularity ratings in the 70's eight months after they took the oath of office. In addition, their overall averages were each substantially higher than President Nixon's to date, which is 62 per cent. President Johnson's 8-month average was 76 per cent, President Kennedy's 75 per cent and President Eisenhower's, 75 per cent. While on the surface it appears that President Nixon thus far has been a less popular President than his immediate predecessors, popularity ratings must be looked at in terms of the political composition of the public. Invariably, members of a President's own party express a far higher degree of approval for his performance than do members of the opposition party. In the latest survey, for example, 82 per cent of Republicans say they approve of the way President Nixon is handling his job, compared to 47 per cent of Democrats.

April, 1953). President Eisenhower's average rating was 65 per cent, while President Nixon's for the same period of time was closely comparable, 62 per cent. However, in a survey taken in Sept., 1953, after he was in office 8 months, President Eisenhower's popularity rating stood at 75 per cent, compared to President Nixon's 60 per cent today. But the rating given Eisenhower had received a sharp boost from the signing of the truce in Korea and the repatriation of American prisoners.

In the latest survey, based on interviewing conducted September 12-15, a total of 1,569 adults in more than 300 carefully selected areas across the nation were asked this question: Do you approve or disapprove of the way Nixon is handling his job as President?

Here are the latest results:

APPROVE	60%
DISAPPROVE	24%
NO OPINION	16%

Highs, Lows in Ratings

President Nixon's highest rating to date is 65 per cent approval, recorded on four occasions, most recently in the survey following the moon landing. His lowest rating to date, 58 per cent, was recorded in a July 11-14 survey.

President Eisenhower enjoyed his highest popularity score in August, 1955, when 79 per cent of the public expressed approval of the way he was handling his job. More than a year earlier, however, in April of 1954, the percentage of persons approving had dipped to 49 per cent, his low point. This came at a time of growing unemployment and falling farm prices.

JFK Hit 83 Pct. in 1961

Kennedy's personal popularity rose to its highest point (83 per cent) after the Cuban invasion of early April, 1961. His low point was recorded in October, 1963, following a period of turmoil on the civil rights front.

President Johnson's high point, 80 per cent approval, was recorded soon after he took office in November, 1963, following the death of President Kennedy.

Johnson's low point, 35 per cent approval, came in August, 1968, when discouragement over our involvement in Vietnam had reached a high point.

Senator Goodell Plans to Run

By CHARLES DUMAS

Associated Press Writer

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller and other top Republicans in this state are playing a little game of "let's pretend" with U.S. Sen. Charles E. Goodell.

The pretense is that Goodell has not made up his mind whether to seek election to a full term in the Senate next year—although they know very well that the opposite is true.

There are a variety of reasons for the little game, but they're not always apparent to the general public.

It has to be a bit confusing to the average voter, who reads one day that Goodell intends to fight hard for election and, a day or so later, that Rockefeller or some other ranking Republican says he doesn't know whether Goodell plans to run.

Lest there be any doubt—as of now, Goodell definitely plans to run. He'll say this privately in no uncertain terms, but not publicly. In public, he just hints about it.

For example, at a news conference in Albany this week, he parried the big question by stating "I like my job." At another point, he said with a smile, "In good time, you'll hear from me."

Goodell has been saying the same sort of thing for months, and you'd think the message would be clear to Rockefeller and cohorts. Well, it is — and they also have access to Goodell's private comments. But they persist in pretending otherwise.

For example, when Rockefeller was asked a few weeks ago whether he would support Goodell for election next year, he replied with a straight face, "The senator hasn't said whether he's going to be a candidate."

Afterwards, Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea Jr. responded to the same question by reciting Rockefeller's line — but with a grin.

In this context, the reason for their pretense becomes obvious.

It enables them to avoid committing themselves to a Goodell candidacy — keeps the options open, as the politicians like to say.

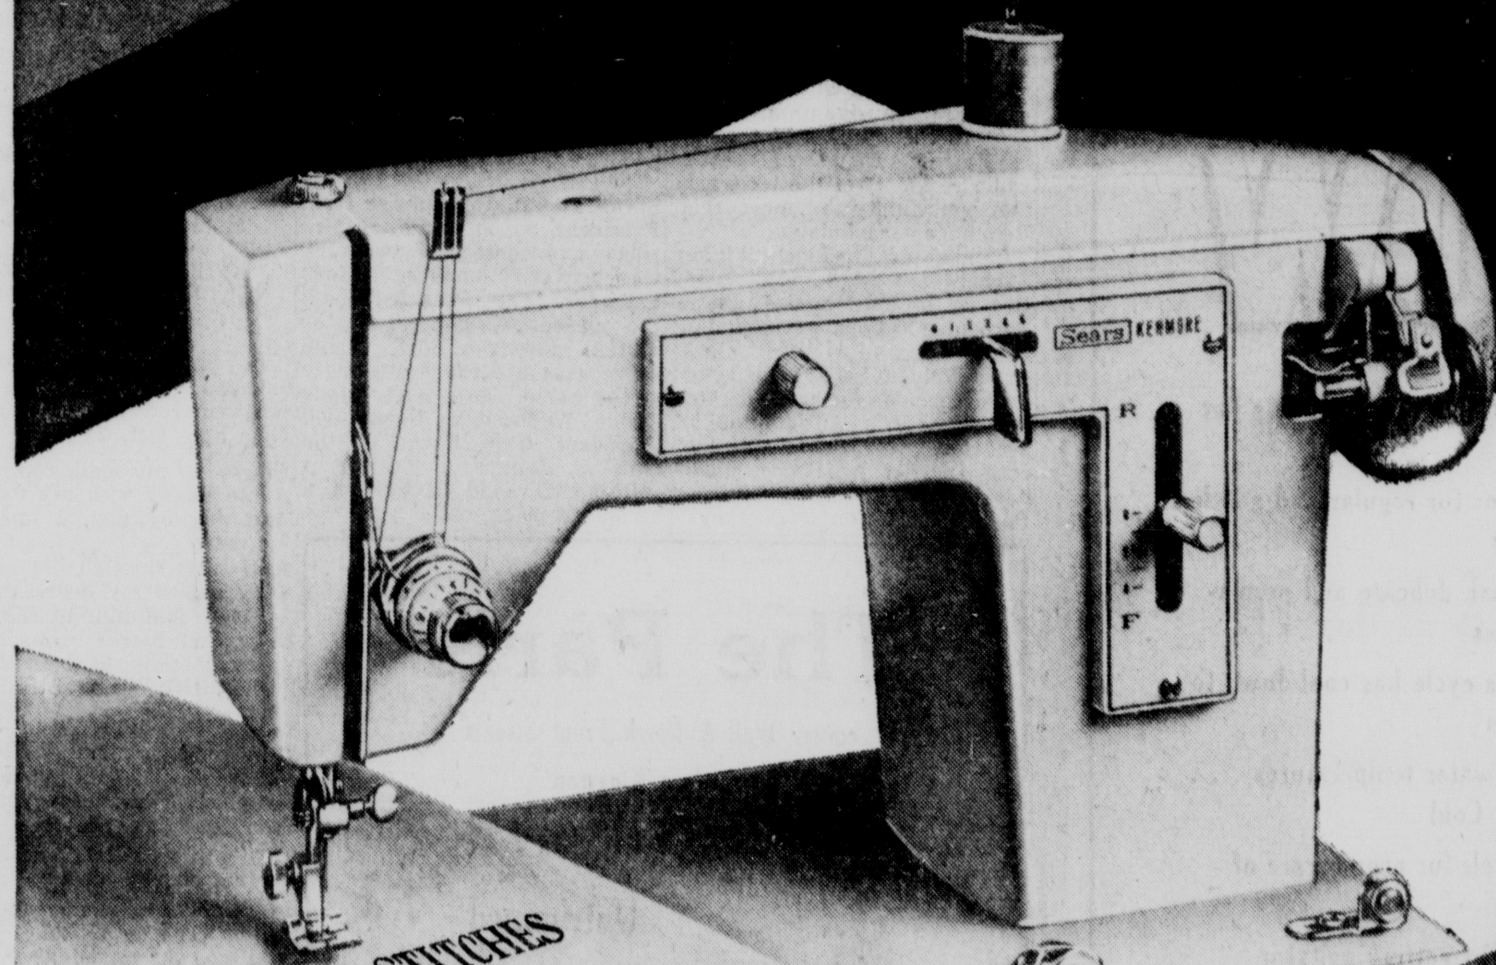

The governor and his allies are painfully aware that, since Rockefeller appointed Goodell to Robert F. Kennedy's Senate seat last year, the Jamestown Republican has antagonized broad segments of the state GOP with what many regard as a too-abrupt shift to liberalism.

It may be that the governor will decide eventually that he should not sponsor Goodell for next year's nomination. In the interval, Rockefeller pretends that Goodell hasn't decided to run—a convenient posture also for other GOP leaders.

Two Plead Innocent To Burglary Charge

KINGSTON 22, of Lake Katrine, pleaded innocent Wednesday before City Judge Hubert A. Richter. They were committed to the county jail in lieu of $5,000 bail each and the case was adjourned until Friday for counsel. Police said Stoff and Beechel were caught hiding inside the uptown jewelry store Tuesday night by Officers Weston Hoffay and Keith Schlichter. Detectives reported the accused men had two pillow cases in their possession containing assorted jewelry valued at $3,840.63. The jewelry was recovered. It was the third burglary at Rudolph's in the last nine months. The other two are still under investigation.

Candidate Wants Seminar To Talk Over Problems

RED HOOK Sipperley plans to submit his idea, when formalized, to the Dutchess County Board of Representatives; if it is met with favorably, then invitations to other county Boards of Supervisors would be extended for a seminar.

"Every governing body could submit its ideas in a rough format before the meeting, and I think the benefit would be universal," he said.

Deer Is Killed, Man Uninjured

GREENVILLE Francis Kirk, 57, of Cairo, escaped injury at 7:45 p.m. Wednesday when his car hit and killed a good-sized deer on Route 32 in this Greene County community.

State Trooper J. J. Syvertsen of Leeds reported Kirk was southbound on the highway when the deer jumped from the west shoulder into the path of his car. Troopers said Kirk looked the deer home.

POLICEMAN OF YEAR — Police Sgt. Weston S. Praises OAS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Organization of American States (OAS) drew praise from President Nixon for its recent success in ending the two-week war between Honduras and El Salvador. The President said the peace mission "left the system stronger and should serve as a precedent elsewhere in the world." In a letter made public Wednesday, Nixon told President Galo Plaza of the OAS a failure to reach a settlement would have been a serious setback.

Double Anniversary For First Federal

KINGSTON

Twenty-two executives and employees of First Federal Savings and Loan Association attended a cocktail dinner party in the Governor Clinton Hotel recently honoring the 80th birthday of Charles Osberg and the 80th year of service by the bank.

DeWeese W. DeWitt, president of the bank, was toastmaster and presented a gift to Osberg. John B. Sterley, chairman of the Board, assisted with the presentation.

Osberg joined the staff of First Federal Savings on Jan. 6, 1961 as custodian. His initial assignment was the Central Broadway office of the bank, later he was headquartered at the main office, 235 Fair Street.

Born in Brooklyn in 1889 he arrived in Ulster County in 1910 via the yacht Aphrodite, owned by Col. Hazard Payne. Osberg was engineer of the yacht, which was second only in size to J. P. Morgan's Corsair. It was originally a three masted barkentine rigged sailing vessel but later converted to steam. It carried a crew of 59. When Col. Payne purchased the 500 acre river front property in West Park, Osberg became his engineer and caretaker. He assisted in the planning and supervising of the Payne mansion. Col. Payne was instrumental in the financing of the original Standard Oil Co. headed by John D. Rockefeller. Payne continued on the Board of Directors of all of the Standard Oil affiliates for 40 years. Osberg remained with him for 34 years. He is a congregant of Holy Cross Episcopal Church. He resides with his wife, the former Marion Shane, at 36 Pine Grove Avenue. They have five children, 12 grand children and four great grandchildren.

First Federal Savings was formed by a group of local professional and businessmen at a meeting in the former W. B. Terwilliger store on the Strand in 1889. The first Board of Directors included Dr. Adelberth H. Mambert, president; Abel A. Crosby, vice president; Palmer A. Canfield Jr., treasurer; Luther L. Osterhoudt, William B. Terwilliger, R. W. Anderson, Chris Larsen, Remson B. DuBois, Joseph C. Mould, Allen S. Hammond, Ephraim G. Adams and Daniel Halloran. Frederick Stephan Jr., the attorney who drafted the original constitution and by-laws, was elected counsel for the association. He continued in that position for 55 years. Judge Sterley succeeded his father-in-law in 1944. With a humble beginning of assets totaling $3,116.85, First Federal has grown to $35,499,781.68. The bank had several successive homes on the Strand, eventually opening the Central Broadway office in 1951 and the Main Office in 1957. A Hyde Park Branch Office was opened in August 1961.

The handsomely crested male cardinal is bright red, including even the bill; the female is much duller in color.

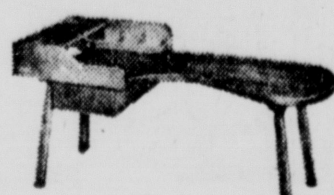

NEW BANK — Official opening of the Woodstock Office of the New Paltz Savings Bank took place recently when many area residents and business people visited the new bank. Located at 68 Mill Hill Road, Woodstock, the bank office will be open daily from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m., and on Fridays from 9 a. m. to 7 p. m. A driveup window will be open from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. daily. Edward Crans is office manager. Robert D. Glanz is president of the New Paltz Savings Bank. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Another Step Forward For Cablevision Firm

KINGSTON Cablevision, Inc., has taken another step forward in its community service efforts to aid in the enhancement of education in the schools of this area. William S. Krajci, manager of Cablevision, Inc., announced that the company has been allotted a number of Scene of 17, WMHT Program Guide listings of television programs that are broadcast daily on the educational channel. Under this educational program, these magazine form booklets, which contain complete programs of listings of Channel 17, will be distributed by Cablevision monthly to area schools that are hooked up with C.V. and broadcast the educational programs over Ch. 17. The programs are for students of all ages, and the internal curriculum is set up by the schools. Cablevision has undertaken this program as a community service adding to other similar projects it has sponsored for area schools. "We are very excited about this program and pleased to know that we are doing something more to enhance education in our schools," said Krajci. The booklets with Ch. 17 listings will be distributed to all schools hooked up with Cablevision, each month starting with the October issue. Scene on 17 is published monthly by the Mohawk-Hudson Council of Educational Television, Inc., WMHT, Channel 17, a non-profit corporation chartered by the Board of Regents of New York State.

Elect County Woman To Credit Bureau Post

KINGSTON is in the process of studying the feasibility of computerizing on a state wide basis. Mrs. Virginia Ellis, president of the Credit Bureau of Kingston Ulster, Inc., was reelected secretary of the State organization at the 43rd annual meeting of the Associated Credit Bureaus of New York State, Inc., held in Montauk, L. I. Jack Gear, Credit Bureau of Elmira, was elected president. Richard Ellis, vice president of the Credit Bureau of Kingston Ulster and manager of the firm's branch office in Hudson, was appointed membership chairman for the coming year. Included in the agenda at the conference was a Public Relations Public Affairs Seminar, discussion of pending legislation on a national and state level which would affect both the credit bureau industry and credit granters and a progress report by the Empire State Computer Credit group which

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks opened easier today in moderate turnover.

Some analysts looked for a technical readjustment to help break the market's six-day slide. However, concern over inflation continued to be a major restraining factor on Wall Street, and considerable belief existed that stock averages would test 1969 lows before swinging in the opposite direction. The Dow Jones average of 30 blue chip industrials fell to 806.89 Wednesday, leaving it slightly above its low for the year of 801.96, set July 29.

Shortly after the opening, the UPI marketwide indicator was off 0.23 per cent on 421 issues on the tape. Declines topped advances, 169 to 121, while Xerox dipped 1/4 to 96 3/4, while Phelps Dodge gave up 1/4 to 46 1/2. American Telephone held unchanged at 50 1/4.

Nixon Signs Housing Program Extension

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has signed stop-gap legislation extending federal housing programs until Jan. 1. Many programs would have expired Wednesday because Congress had not completed action on a bill extending them for a longer period.

The emergency resolution covered Federal Housing Administration insured loans in excess of the legal ceiling.

In other legislative action: —The Senate approved by voice vote and sent to the House a bill providing for the District of Columbia to elect a nonvoting member to the House of Representatives.

—The Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee passed a two-year extension of the Office of Economic Opportunity's war on poverty and added $292 million to Nixon's request of $2 billion for this fiscal year. The bill also would set up new counseling and recovery programs for alcoholics and drug addicts.

—The Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee approved Nixon's nomination of Miss Nancy Hanks, New York, to be chairman of the National Council on the Arts for four years.

—A House education subcommittee approved a bill authorizing $29 million over three years to set up programs to warn youths about drug abuse.

Alaska Braces for the Test

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) —Alaska, which has experienced destructive natural earthquakes, braced today for a massive underground nuclear test some scientists believe could touch off temblors and tidal waves.

Troy Man Found In Alley Was Fatally Beaten

TROY, N.Y. (AP) — A 48-year-old Troy man was pronounced dead on arrival at a hospital here after police found him in an alleyway.

Troy police said Clayton Champoux was found late Wednesday after police were called to investigate what they called an assault.

Assistant Police Chief John Grimmick declined to speculate on the cause of death but said an autopsy would be performed at St. Mary's Hospital.

Police said Champoux was assaulted and that they were searching for his assailant. They said they were working from a "vague description" of an individual.

Two Summonses To Four Drivers

KINGSTON — Four motorists were issued two summonses each on Wednesday by police for vehicle and traffic violations.

David G. Post, 16, of 24 Second Avenue, was cited for driving an unregistered motor vehicle and passing a stop sign.

James L. Brooks, 20, of 57 Smith Avenue, was booked for failure to keep to the right and driving at a speed not reasonable and prudent.

Alan J. Tyler, 22, of P. O. Box 363, Tillson, was summoned to appear in City Court to face charges of passing a stop sign and speeding.

Thomas J. Wintasek, 24, of Box 132, Accord, was cited for making an unnecessary noise with his car and driving at a speed not reasonable and prudent.

Garraghan went on to say, "A swimming pool is certainly more important than busing students all over the city."

The mayor said he was "strongly against" busing of students from one section of the city to the other.

The mayor admitted that he had made a campaign promise when he ran for his first term in 1965 to build two swimming pools in 1966. "It was the only promise I did not fulfill," he said. "Later investigation showed that the two pools were economically unfeasible. My campaign statements were made out of lack of understanding."

Garraghan said that the city would be willing to pay 50 per cent of the cost of construction on the new pool with the school district. However, he balked at any plan that would call for the building of an outdoor pool.

"An outdoor pool would be a complete waste of taxpayers' money," he said. "It would be open only eight weeks a year. An indoor pool is the only answer."

Treasury Receipts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury accounts for the fiscal year through Sept. 29:

Withdrawals $36,254,149,945.47

Deposits 50,899,717,714.84

Cash balance 8,209,530,572.14

Public debt 366,461,976,398.36

Gold 10,367,013,361.40

The Atomic Energy Commission planned to trigger the device at 6 p.m. EDT on the remote Aleutian island of Amchitka, about 1,500 miles from Anchorage. The explosion at the bottom of a 4,000-foot shaft will release a force equal to more than a million tons of TNT.

The AEC says the test will be completely safe, and two prominent California earthquake scientists agree.

However, a group of scientists, conservationists and public officials made last-ditch appeals for the U. S. government to postpone the shot. They said it could harm rare species of wildlife and possibly cause earthquakes and tidal waves.

Canada and Japan have warned the United States they will hold it responsible for any damage done by the test. Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, sent an appeal for postponement to President Nixon, but the White House said Nixon turned it down.

Dr. Perry Byerly, director emeritus of the University of California Seismograph Station at Berkeley, called the earthquake talk "ridiculous." Dr. Charles F. Richter, who devised the Richter Earthquake Scale, said the possibility of a large quake was "very, very remote."

The apparent purpose of the test, first of five of gradually increasing intensity scheduled on Amchitka, is to test the warhead for the Spartan missile—the long-range interceptor in the Safeguard antiballistic missile (ABM) system.

Driver Fails In Attempt to Hurdle River

MONTGOMERY, N.Y. (AP) — An employee of the Orange County Airport here took his auto out on a runway Wednesday night, gunned it down field at 100 m.p.h. and tried to hurdle the Walkill River, police said.

Stephen Stockhofer, 20, of Walden, made it about two-thirds of the way across the 200-foot-wide river and landed in three feet of water. Airport employees pulled him out and he was reported in fair condition at Horton Memorial Hospital in Middletown.

Police charged Stockhofer with driving while intoxicated. Observers said Stockhofer apparently thought that, by taking off from the 10-foot embankment at the end of the runway, he could sail over the river.

Trial, Error, Says Singer

KINGSTON — Conservative Party Mayoral candidate Bernie Singer, today called the present city administration "government by trial and error," and "costly experimentation."

"We intend to tell it as it is," he said. He alleged that many of the problems of the city will not be aired because they have been "brought about by the ineptitude of their administrations."

Singer offered a "new sense of direction," stating that a party formed "for the purpose of destructive criticism alone would not be worthy of your support."

He announced that the Conservative Party does have a program which will get Kingston moving.

"We have too long seen that business as usual with dictation by party bosses will never get the job done," he charged.

Budget Cutters Aim At Supercargo Plane

WASHINGTON (AP) — Military spending critics focused their attack on the controversial C5A supercargo plane and plans for new ships as debate continued today over efforts to slice $2.2 billion from a $21.35 billion defense bill.

Rep. Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., told the House Wednesday the huge C5A suffered a new test failure of a rear beam last week and the Pentagon did not tell Congress about it.

Pike said that he learned of the test failure when he was in a Los Angeles bar while attending a test pilots' symposium.

"The main problem in this country is not something called the military-industrial complex," he said. "It's something called secrecy."

But with both men shouting to hold the floor, Armed Services Committee Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., said he had been apprised of the test failure and indicated Pike was reporting "half truths and half facts."

Pike, a member of Rivers' committee, asked if he didn't think the full committee should have been apprised.

"I don't know whether I do after hearing the gentleman (Pike) talk," Rivers answered.

Kate Recovering

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Singer Kate Smith is recovering from an operation for kidney stones performed in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital.

The entertainer underwent the surgery Wednesday and was reported in good condition. Miss Smith is 60.

Rep. Durward G. Hall, R-Mo., reported the third C5A off the production line was test flown Wednesday morning and performed beyond expectations.

The exchange came during opening debate on the authorization bill for the Safeguard anti-missile system, planes, tanks, ships and missiles.

Cut proposed by spending critics include $481 million for procurement of an additional 23 C5A planes beyond the 38 already contracted.

Critics also argued that $1 billion added to the bill for ships, should be cut because the Nixon administration didn't ask for it and wouldn't spend the money if it were approved.

But Rivers said President Nixon had personally promised him the money would be spent as soon as economic conditions permitted.

Rivers said the money would be the first installment of a five-year program that would cost at least $4 billion "if we are to catch up with Soviet seapower."

Other cuts proposed by critics include all $345 million of Safeguard deployment money, $86 million for 170 Cobra helicopters, $77 million for the Short Range Attack Missile, $38 million for development of a Freedom Fighter plane for U.S. allies and $23 million for the Advanced Manned Strategic Bomber for the 1970s.

An additional amendment would eliminate $136 million for three bomber defense projects that were cut by the Senate but restored by Rivers' committee.

Kingstonian Named to Board of Self-Help Group

NORWALK, CONN. — A better life. The in at American University, tributed long periods of service visory Committee of the Peace Corps; president of the National Council of Churches of Christ in America and president of the national Council of Social Welfare.

Dr. Fleming is married to the former Bernice V. Moler and they are the parents of five grown children, three boys and two girls.

Founded in 1932, Save the Children Federation aids children, their families, and communities in the Southern Appalachian Mountains, on the American Indian reservations, and in many countries abroad through the self-help child family, community sponsorship program, on either a loan or grant basis; an international self-help scholarship fund.

Announcement was made by E. C. Kip Finch, chairman of the boards of both non-profit, voluntary agencies, which exist to help others help themselves.

Kingston native Arthur S. Fleming, former Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, and currently president of Macalester College, St. Paul, Minn., has been named a member of the board of directors of both Save the Children Federation (SCF) and its cooperating agency, Community Development Foundation (CDF).

Dr. Fleming is a son of the late Surrogate Judge and Mrs. Harry H. Fleming and has gained national prominence in a variety of high governmental, church and educational posts. An experienced educator and government worker, Dr. Fleming began his career as an instructor of government at American University in 1927. Professional academic posts that followed included director of the School of Public Affairs at American University, executive officer of American University, and the presidencies of Ohio Wesleyan University (1948-53 and 1957-58) and the University of Oregon (1961-68). In the years between his service to education, he held posts as a member of the U.S. Civil Service Commission (1939-48); a member of the War Manpower Commission (1942-45); and director of the Office of Defense Mobilization (1953-57). He served as Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare from 1958 to 1961.

Yankee Aids Peruvian Indians Sell Handicrafts

CUZCO, Peru (AP) — A young Yankee is helping Peruvian Indians through modern sales techniques, and the effort is paying off to the tune of $100,000 a year worth of handicraft sales.

Peace Corps volunteer Peter Teige started a cooperative shop eight months ago on Cuzco's main square. Now, 16 Indian Cooperatives, involving 600 families, sell directly through the "Coop Shop".

Despite sharp overall declines in Peru's tourist traffic since the military coup d'etat last October, foreigners are still flocking to this famous capital of the ancient Incas, 11,400 feet above sea level in the Andes. Many of these tourists are buying the handicraft items—made by methods dating back to Inca days—as fast as the Indians can produce them.

That isn't very fast, because most of the items are made by Indian women, who may spend as much as three months patiently weaving or sewing a rug or poncho, while tending a flock of llamas.

Teige, 25, of Waterville, Maine, says that at the present sales rate, the shop should sell about a quarter of a million dollars of goods a year, within the next two years.

Bug Teige is realistic about the limits of prosperity these sales will bring to the thousands of impoverished highland Indians.

"You're never going to develop the world selling Indian blankets," says Teige, who has a masters degree in business from the University of Chicago.

Nevertheless, foreigners are enthusiastic about the quality and artistry of the goods, and importers from the United States have found that they can make a good profit on the rugs, blankets, and brass art objects.

Teige said one American buyer recently ordered $20,000 worth of alpaca rugs from the shop. The rugs, 6 by 4½ feet, which sell for about $50 apiece in Cuzco, could easily go for $250 to $300 in the United States, he said. Unfortunately, most of the profit does not go to the Indians.

"The Indians will accept as little as two Soles (about five U.S. cents) profit on an item," said Teige. "The middle-men drive a hard bargain with the Indians, who need money immediately, and then jack up the retail prices."

Although the ancient Incas had a cooperative-based system, Teige says, this tradition has tended to break down in modern times, and only recently have the Indians been able to regain some of the benefits of working collectively and eliminating the middleman.

Teige travels often to Indian villages, and gives what he calls "pep talks" to the artisans who sometimes become a bit discouraged if their particular items are not selling fast.

He greets tourists in the modern second-story Coop Shop, dressed in typical Peruvian alpaca sweater and American style jeans. It took him nine months of selling Indian items on the streets and in a local folkdance theater to raise the money to open the shop, he says.

Teige is modest about his own role in helping the hundreds of Indians who rely on the handicraft sales. He is also worried about his as yet undesignated replacement. His two-year Peace Corps term ends soon.

U. S. Surplus Property

Historic Chateau Will Go to Highest Bidder

GENEVA (AP) — Napoleon's wife found shelter in it, 150 years ago; Napoleon's brother used it as a final stop on his escape route to America, and after World War I, it was the exile home of Austria's last emperor.

Today, the Chateau de Prangins is U.S. government surplus property, haunted by rats and threatened by dilapidation.

As yet, there aren't any "for sale" signs at the 18th century castle, beautifully situated on Lake Geneva near here. But the U.S. State Department has let it be known discreetly that the sprawling residence can be bought by the highest bidder.

In 1814, the chateau, originally built by a Swiss banker, became a haven for Marie Louise, the Empress of France and Hapsburg princess. She fled there with her 3-year-old son, the King of Rome, when Paris was captured by Napoleon's enemies.

Joseph Bonaparte, Napoleon's eldest surviving brother who briefly occupied the thrones of Naples and of Spain, bought the chateau in 1815 and lived in it for some time before his pursuers again gave chase. It is said that he escaped from Prangins through a secret tunnel to a waiting boat on the lake and eventually to a new life in New Jersey.

In 1919, Karl I, emperor of Austria, moved to Prangins. He lived there for two years, and there plotted an abortive attempt to reclaim the crown of Hungary. The ill-fated project led to his expulsion from neutral Switzerland.

Six years ago Mrs. Stanley McCormick, heiress of the harvesting machine fortune gave the chateau to the American government. Her husband had bought it in 1929, but neither he nor his wife used it extensively.

In the beginning, the government had ambitious plans for the gift. One plan called for the castle to be made into a temporary White House for future summit meetings in Geneva.

Another plan to make it the U.S. Ambassador's Geneva home, was discarded because the highway from Prangins to the city—14 miles—is too often congested.

The government began to have second thoughts about the castle, in large part because State Department officials felt Congress would not approve an estimated repair cost of $500,000.

The chateau, as an embassy officer put it, had become a "sort of white elephant of epic proportions." So, the government decided to sell it.

As word spread, private proposals were put forward to retain Prangins as a permanent site for conferences and seminars for junior diplomats, possibly also as an American cultural center with exhibitions of paintings and regular concerts.

So far, the proposals have remained without an echo, and no bidder has turned up. But the rats are multiplying and mold is spreading fast behind the closed shutters and the tarnished windows of an unwanted gift.

Is a "Color-Blind" antenna FOGGING UP Your Color TV reception?

Enjoy the sharpest, brightest COLOR TV with the

JFD LPV COLOR LOG PERIODIC TV/FM ANTENNA

If you're trying to pull in good color pictures with an old or obsolete antenna, here's valuable advice.

Your color TV can not work at its best if the signal from your TV antenna is weak or unstable. Today's color TV sets require "color-tuned" TV antennas that satisfy the critical directive gain demands of color.

You need an antenna designed with color in mind—the space-age JFD LPV Color Log Periodic. All of its elements (not just some as in other antennas) work together for brilliant COLOR picture-power on channels 2 to 13. Exclusive patented log periodic makes the big difference.

And the same JFD LPV antenna gives you better-than-ever black and white pictures, FM Stereo, too!

Why shackle your color TV performance with a "color-blind" antenna another day. Get the "color-tuned" JFD LPV Color Log Periodic today!

Parley Opens With a Kick

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—The AFL-CIO opened its convention today with plans to kick out one union and to raise dues by $4.6 million a year for some 13 million members of the labor federation's remaining 121 unions.

Both actions were linked, at least in part, with Walter Reuther's withdrawal of his United Auto Workers from the federation last year after a bitter leadership quarrel with AFL-CIO President George Meany.

The loss of Reuther's 1.6 million auto workers left a financial hole of about $1 million a year in the federation's income.

The AFL-CIO's 29-man executive council, headed by Meany, voted Wednesday to ask the 1,000 convention delegates to expel the International Chemical Workers Union for joining Reuther's Alliance for Labor Action.

Reuther formed the alliance early this year with acting President Frank Fitzsimmons of the 1.9-million-member Teamsters Union, which was expelled from the AFL-CIO in 1957 on corruption charges.

Ironically, Reuther was a major leader in the fight to oust the teamsters from the federation.

The 110,000-member chemical workers joined the alliance despite Meany's warning that any AFL-CIO union that did so would face expulsion.

The 75-year-old Meany branded the auto workers-teamsters alliance a "hostile" labor organization set up to raid and otherwise compete with AFL-CIO unions.

The proposed dues increase from 7 cents per member per month to 10 cents will add $4.6 million to AFL-CIO income, bringing it to about $15.6 million a year.

The money is used for the federation's programs to organize new workers, lobby in Congress and conduct other business of the nation's labor movement.

In addition to offsetting the loss of auto worker dues, the AFL-CIO needs more money to operate its recently created labor studies center in Washington to train union officials in modern problems facing the labor movement.

In other action, the AFL-CIO executive council urged President Nixon to work to wipe out racial discrimination and segregation in the nation.

"There should be no retreat or compromise," said the council of the labor federation, some of whose unions have themselves been accused of discrimination against Negroes and other minorities.

The Vatican Speaks Out

Humanae Vitae Conforms Closely With Vatican

In an unprecedented series of articles through his distinguished Vatican emissaries, Pop Paul VI speaks out on the moral issues of today: the pill and population, the breakup of the family, love, sex and marriage. These exclusive articles were prepared at the request of this newspaper to answer the questions arising from the reaction to the Pope's encyclical on regulation of birth.

This article, the fourth of eight, deals with the Ecumenical Council and its reaction to the use of devices such as the pill.

THE UNITY OF THE TEACHINGS OF THE COUNCIL AND THE POPE
By Pericle Cardinal Felici of Rome

On the 18th and 19th of September last, a Congress of Theologians was held in Amsterdam and the encyclical "Humanae Vitae" was discussed. At the end of the discussions a communiqué was issued, from which it was clear that the theologians, in reaching their conclusions had begun with the presupposition that the encyclical does not live up to the expectations aroused by the pastoral constitution Gaudium et Spes promulgated in the public session of the 7th of December 1965 of the Second Vatican Council.

Were they right? John XXIII, having announced on the 25th January 1959, that an Ecumenical Council was to be held, set about contacting the bishops of the world in order to find out what their wishes and proposals were. Most of the Bishops replied: their answers are contained in eight large volumes. These carry an appendix in two further volumes, in which the proposals of the bishops are systematically grouped according to content and theme.

Now, a good number of the bishops formally requested that "eugenic practices be condemned"; "that means of contraception and Malthusianism be condemned"; "that direct sterilization permanent or temporary, either in men or in women, be condemned." One bishop expressly requested that "the crimes of euthanasia and so-called birth control be condemned decisively, because there are some who believe and hope that the doctrine of the Church can be changed."

However, some bishops asked whether, "granted certain definite signs of an economic, medical, or social nature, it was legitimate to have recourse to the Ogino-Knaus method, or at least licit to observe a desecrated silence in the face of the temporary use by some married couples of the so-called 'sterilizing pill' (steroid pills)." Others, more explicitly, asked whether it was not time to pronounce a new judgement on contraceptive practices, as more convenient or safer means of contraception were being experimented with daily. Could the end of matrimony be achieved in this way? For in fact the end is achieved in the case of conjugal relations where the wife is already pregnant or older than forty-five, namely when either further conception or any conception at all is impossible. The problem was proposed in the form of a doubt, the proposers not themselves suggesting any concrete solutions to it.

Using these questions of the bishops of the world as its starting point, the Preparatory Theological Commission worked out a schema De Castitate, Virginitate, Matrimonio, Familia. Some of its statements and attitudes are of interest to us: Offspring should be seen as a "blessing from Heaven and a gift of God." The act of procreation, "being ordained by God, is in itself legitimate and good." It ought to be stated that "with the married couple rests both the right and the duty to make the laws of nature the guide to their behavior," at this stage the encyclical Casti Connubii of Pius XI and the well-known Allocation of Pius XII to midwives being particularly quoted. All voluntary means and artifices for preventing conception were condemned as intrinsically and graviter mali intrinsically and grievously evil and sinful.

Speaking expressly of the responsibility of parents as regards the number of their children, the commission in no way tried to ignore the serious difficulties which parents are up against. Besides, it stated that as far as the number of children in each family is concerned, natural and positive Divine Law lays down no universal norm: instead, one has in each case to take into account individual conditions, the good of the whole family and of society, following the dictates of Christian prudence in conjunction with the other virtues. Trusting greatly in divine providence, which ordains all things wisely, the faithful should be on their guard against being carried away by unreasonable and blind instinct and by various forms of hedonism. It was affirmed that it is licit for married couples, for a just cause and by mutual consent, to use marriage only during the infertile days, hence values and arguments of a purely medical, eugenic, economic or social nature should not be given first place or be considered equal to values and reasons of a higher, namely the religious and moral, order. Turning its attention to the advertising of contraceptives the commission proposed that the recommending and advertising of the wrong contraceptive means of birth-limitation, which not only do not defend the good of peoples as is sometimes pretended nowadays, but rather corrupt the whole social order, be severely reprehended.

The schema of the Theological Commission was amply discussed by the Central Preparatory Commission in the fourth Congregation of the sixth session held on May 7th, 1962. This Preparatory Commission was composed of cardinals, bishops, superiors general of religious orders chosen in such a way as to give a wide representation to the different hierarchies of the world. Be it noted that, by explicit instructions of Pope John, apart from the Presidents of the various Preparatory Commissions, who were members de jure of the Central Commission, very few other of its members were from the Roman Curia. The vast majority of the members was made up of persons not belonging to the Curia, namely the presidents of the various National Episcopal Conferences. There were 71 voting members, who, after a long and open discussion, while proposing various amendments to the schema, were substantially all agreed on the point we have just been discussing. One Father had proposed, and in this he had the support of some members of the Central Commission, that the statement concerning the absolute evil of sins of onanism (intrinsece et graviter mali) be expressed in less harsh terms; for instance, it could simply be stated that "they ought to be considered intrinsically evil," adding in a note a quotation from the encyclical Casti Connubii. If this were done it would be clear that these acts, given the requisite subjective elements, are grievously sinful. The Amendments Sub-Commission did not hold with removing the word graviter, because such a move would run counter to the teachings of Pius XII. The Sub-Commission however, accepted a proposal of the same Father to include a distinction between the egoistic sin of onanism, which manifests a married couple's intention of avoiding the procreation and education of children, and those sins of weakness that can occur, not infrequently, even among good married couples who genuinely desire a large family.

By order of John XXIII, the text prepared by the Theological Commission and revised and amended by the Central Commission, was sent to the Fathers-Soon-to-be of the Council. Thus the text got as far as the Council. The schema De Castitate, Virginitate, Matrimonio, Familia, due to the intervention of different agencies and due to circumstances, became absorbed by other schemas, and as for our own argument, this became embodied in the schema on the Church in the world of today, entitled De Ecclesia in Mundo Huius Temporis, which at that time had Gaudium et Luctus for its opening words. It was sent to the Fathers on July 3, 1964. The text was relatively short but had added to it the Adnexa, which contained explanations and analyses of the arguments expounded in the schema. The schema affirmed that "such is the nature of conjugal love that marriage is of its very nature ordained to the procreation and education of children." Concerning the number of offspring, it was stated that parents must not follow blind instinct, but truly glorify God the Creator and perfect themselves in Christ by doing their duty "with full and knowing responsibility, in accordance with the gifts of God and the law of true love, bearing in mind pedagogical, economic, and sanitary needs, be these family needs of social (civil or ecclesiastical) ones."

It was stated explicitly in the Adnexa that "every deliberate interference which vitiates the actions of the person that belong in the marriage act (opus personae actus coniugal proprium) is against divine law and the order of marriage; and such behavior is contrary to the integrity of conjugal love." It was further specified that even though the final practical application of universal principles has to be made by the married couple, they must not act "except with a conscience formed according to the teachings of the Church."

The Fathers of the Council made numerous observations and a new text was drawn up, of

PERICLE CARDINAL FELICI

The Adnexa were to a large extent incorporated in it. It was sent to the Fathers on May 28, 1965.

On the question of the number of offspring the conciliar Commission observed that "a great number of the Fathers want parents to have as many children as God gives through the working of nature, abandoning themselves to Divine Providence," but a great majority of the Fathers in one way or another, were in favor of so-called responsible parenthood. Only a few (and two of them hesitantly) would not exclude the use of contraceptives in more serious cases. The Commission adopted the first two opinions, held by such a large number of the Fathers. Appropos of responsible parenthood it recalled the words of Pius XII to the Italian Midwives (29 October 1951), and to the Association of Christian Families (26 November 1951):

"In which 'birth-regulation' (distinguished thus from so-called birth-control) is admitted for medical, eugenic, or social reasons. The text (of the new schema) clearly states that the consciences of parents must be governed by objective laws and the demands of the good of the different orders; and with these words (conscientia lege Dei recte informata) clearly underlines the fact that 'wrongful methods are prohibited.' The same conciliar Commission, speaking of responsible parenthood, observed further: 'Yielding to the wishes of many of the Fathers, the Sub-Commission and the Mixed Plenary Commission (a) have unequivocally declared that on this topic the conscience of parents must be directed by objective laws, (b) have clearly emphasized that wrongful methods are prohibited by the words conscientia quae lege Dei recte informatur.' The 'mind of the Commission was clear and the reference to the teaching of Pius XII about responsible parenthood most timely, for there could have been equivocations in that connection. The Relator went over the controverted subject once again, more explicit this time. The fourth session of the Council began. At the start there was a continuation of the discussion of the prepared text. But the clear 'mind' of the Commission was still, to many of the Fathers, not sufficiently clear. They asked that the text be made more precise; every appearance of subjectivism had to be avoided in so delicate a text (textus recognitus). In this document, which reaffirmed that the decision regarding the number of offspring belongs without question to the parents, it was unambiguously laid down that the married couple must not be led by their own wills but must follow their consciences Law itself and obedient to the magisterium of the Church, which authentically interprets it in the light of the Gospel."

This is the first explicit mention of the Magisterium of the Church as interpreter of Divine Law. On the problem of harmonizing conjugal love with the responsible transmission of life the following statement was introduced: "When there is a question of harmonizing conjugal love with the responsible transmission of life the moral nature of human behavior does not depend solely on sincerity of intention and the evaluation of motives: it depends much more on objective criteria, founded on the very dignity of the human person, in such wise as to preserve the over-all meaning of self-giving and of human procreation in the context of true love. Formed (imbu) by these principles the children of the Church, in regulating births must not enter upon paths forbidden by the Magisterium."

The voting on the schema followed. Numerous modi were proposed. More clarity was asked for. Two of the Fathers claimed that the text was "theologically immature, equivocal, and reticent on certain essentials."

The commission replied that it was not its task to solve each and every question that arose in this context, all the more so because the Pope had set up a special ad hoc Commission. In any case the document put in its proper perspective the sacred character of marriage and love, consonant with Pope Pius XI's encyclical Casti Connubii, and the sacred character of fecundity and of many rights and duties inherent to conjugal and family life.

The text was amended and whatever modi had been accepted were inserted into it (Textus denuo recognitus). It 23rd June 1964. The note said that with a view to finding answers to some particular questions Paul VI had set up a Special Commission "so that even more prominently, the statement that conscience should be 'enlightened by judgement,' Divine Law itself" was altered. At this juncture the less to "conscience must conform to the Divine Law," followed by the other words "obedient to the Magisterium of the Church, etc." already quoted above.

As regards the harmony between conjugal love and the transmission of life, some valuable phrases were introduced: it was stated that the objective criteria which determine the licitness of sexual relations must derive from the nature of the person and from the nature of his acts (In the previous text no mention was made of such acts); it was stated, furthermore, that the over-all meaning of self-giving and of procreation cannot be understood without a sincere devotion to conjugal chastity; it was also stated that the children of the Church (who must "base themselves upon these principles," not merely be "formed" as was said in the previous text) follow paths forbidden by the Magisterium in the interpreting of Divine Law. This latter phrase, too, was missing from the earlier text.

Some of the Fathers were still perplexed. They were afraid that this text could still be interpreted in a way contrary to the previous teachings of the Magisterium. To remove all doubt the Commission added a note which contained the principal documents of the Magisterium to which the text referred, namely, the encyclical of Pius XI Casti Connubii, the Allocation of Pius XII to Midwives, 29th October 1951, the Speech of Paul Vito Cardinals, 23rd June 1964. The note said that with a view to finding answers to some particular questions Paul VI had set up a Special Commission "so that even more prominently, the statement that conscience should be 'enlightened by judgement,' Divine Law itself" was altered. At this juncture the less to "conscience must conform to the Divine Law," followed by the other words "obedient to the Magisterium of the Church, etc." already quoted above. The iter of the constitution, between conjugal love and the marital fecundity goes, clearly shows that the following principles have been consistently affirmed:

1. Marriage and conjugal love, are ordained by their very nature to the procreation and education of offspring, which is the highest gift of God and the ultimate crowning of conjugal union.
2. In the last analysis, the decision regarding the number of offspring rests with the consciences of the married couple.
3. The consciences of the husband and wife must be formed according to the objective norms of morality.
4. In moral evaluation of the procreative act the nature of the act itself and its intrinsic end must be borne in mind.
5. The objective norms of morality are constituted by Divine Law, the faithful interpreter of which is the Magisterium of the Church, at the end of which Christ has placed the Holy Father.

It is precisely these principles which are underlined in the encyclical Humanae Vitae, and so the encyclical not only does not belie the hopes aroused by the constitution Gaudium et Spes, but is in perfect harmony with the doctrines contained in the constitution, doctrines which are clarified and studied authoritatively and in greater depth by the Supreme Pontiff, exactly according to the wishes and hopes expressed by the Fathers of the Council.

TOMORROW: The Basis of the Encyclical By Monsignor Carlo Colombo, on a new way of presenting the moral problems of birth control in the light of nature and goals of love.

Simulated Attack on New York — Kingston, County Units Help Out

KINGSTON — Kingston Composite Squadron, Civil Air Patrol joined forces last weekend with Ulster County Civil Defense in a statewide exercise in which ground and flight crews totaling about 2,000 CAP volunteers assembled at 30 airports to fly missions essential to recovery from an actual nuclear attack.

In Kingston, headquarters was set up Saturday morning at the Civil Defense Emergency Operating Center in the basement of the court house with a skeleton crew including Major Sidney Lane, squadron commander; Capt. Julia Lane, information officer and cadets, Gregory Murphy, Larry Forte and Paul Van Benthem. Also present were two CD communications men, Walter Bundy and Harold Twiss.

The action of the exercise was supposed to take place at D plus Two, two days after the attack. It therefore consisted of actions to assist the recovery effort.

Among the cities which received a simulated nuclear bombing was Binghamton and it was assumed that radio active fallout would be a factor in Ulster County. It was also assumed that many people would have left the Binghamton area to avoid fallout. A traffic survey was one of the things requested of Civil Defense, especially at the western bounddaries of the county along routes 52, 55 and 55A.

Activities of the local squadron were later moved to Dutchess County Airport and the Southern District Office of the New York State Civil Defense Commission.

Major Michael Kozenko of the local squadron was the sector communications officer there. Photographic and radiological monitoring missions were also flown by the pilots of Civil Air Patrol.

EMERGENCY CENTER — The Ulster County Civil Air Patrol and Civil Defense communications section at CD headquarters in the Court House is pictured during exercise. The three cadets in the background (L) are Larry Forte, Gregory Murphy and Paul Van Benthem. Civilian Defense personnel, Walter Bundy (L) and Harold Twiss are in the foreground. Heart Sounds Screening Program for the Valley

KINGSTON — In a little grey box that analyzes heart sounds with remarkable accuracy, it has been successful in detecting faulty hearts which had previously gone undetected, in as many as six out of every 100 school children.

The Heart Sounds Screening Program is now functioning in 25 states and the Mid-Hudson Heart Association is the first "Heart" Chapter in New York State to introduce the program.

The test, administered by trained technicians in the employ of the Mid-Hudson Heart Association, consists of three ECG electrodes fitted with suction cups and applied to the child's heart and arms, and takes a brief two minutes to perform. The test will be administered in the nurse's office at each grade school in the county, public and parochial.

All the children in the second and fifth grades will be tested, commencing October 30, and since children in these grades will be tested yearly on a continuing basis, a rapid accurate heart check-up will be a routine health experience for all Greene County children.

When questioned as to the selection of the grades mentioned, Dr. Vosburgh explained that tests for children in the age group of second graders are more likely to reveal congenital defects, if they exist, which had not been detected previously. Tests for children in the fifth grade, may reveal after-effects of rheumatic fever, if present.

Community Activity

Dr. Vosburgh also went on to explain that another gratifying feature of the program is the "delabeling" of heart disease for children who had, prior to the tests, been considered victims of the disease. A 13-year old boy in California who was deprived of a normal childhood because of heart disease was elated when the PhonoCardioScan revealed that his heart was perfectly sound.

Rep. Fish Sets Meeting On Old Kinderhook Home

KINDERHOOK — Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. today announced a meeting in the Kinderhook Town Hall on Oct. 6, at 7 p.m. for all those interested in seeing "Lindenwald," home of President Martin Van Buren, made a National Park.

The meeting, which has been arranged by Fish with Town Supervisor Earl DeVoe, is to allow members of the National Park Service planning team, who will be in Kinderhook from Oct. 6 to 10, to meet with area residents who would like to provide information.

Information gained at the meeting is to assist the National Park planning team, headed by Hobart Cawood, in development of a master plan and legislative support data needed before "Lindenwald" can be made part of the National Park system.

Legislation to have the Kinderhook home of Van Buren incorporated into the National Park system was introduced in the House of Representatives by Fish earlier this year. The former President is one of the few who do not have a National memorial, and efforts to have the Columbia County home of President Van Buren so designated have been going on since the early 1930's.

Wise Women Know Football Is Path to Man's Heart

By ANNETTE STEC
Perth Amboy News Tribune
Written for
The Associated Press

Like the commercial says — you've come a long way baby — and it's not enough to sit back and take life easy like great grandma did.

You have to be up on everything. You're the one who decided to be emancipated, remember?

You don't have to bake your own bread anymore, but you'd better know how a carburetor works just in case the family wagon breaks down on the way to the station to pick up hubby.

You don't have to do your laundry on the banks of a stream, but you'd better know how to keep the laundry room from flooding while the $10-an-hour plumber tells you why he can't possibly fit you into his schedule until a week from Thursday.

Remember when money was left to the man? Now you have to figure out a budget — that's harder to balance than Uncle Sam's — and come out in the black at the end of the year.

And if that isn't enough, you now have to be an expert on sports — a walking sports encyclopedia, able to come forth with facts and figures with not a moment's hesitation.

To be really up on it all, all you have to do is conquer one sport: football. That's all. You've got to be a football maven to get along with the beautiful boys.

More and more women are discovering football. Married women use it to talk to their husbands. Single girls use it for openers whenever they meet a man they'd like to — well, you know.

The way to a man's heart is no longer through his stomach.

It's football. If you don't believe that, try serving dinner at approximately 3 p.m. any Sunday afternoon from now until next January. If the man leaves the television and actually eats his meal, you'd better check his insurance policies.

Football attendance figures are climbing by leaps and bounds. It may not be because more men are taking an interest in the game, but that women have discovered it and are tagging along.

Well, perhaps tagging along isn't the right phrase — invading is more like it. One woman sports writer recently had the men-only in the press box rule done away with — at the Giants-Jet encounter in the Yale Bowl. And last Saturday's Giant-Eagle game saw a woman — this writer — on the sidelines for the first time in its eight-year history.

And in the stands, about one third of the sellout crowd were women. Some came along for the sun; most of them can't tell the difference between a flanker and tight end and know what to do in a third-down and four situation.

They like the live action. And from the field, you appreciate even more the talents and plain courage of the men on the teams.

Speed, agility, physical condition and computer quick response to every situation — that's what football is. Seeing a 6-foot-4, 280-pounder wearing 23 pounds of equipment run his fastest, hit the hardest he can, get up and do it again and again in 90 degree weather seems dumb if you don't know the game, know how the men think, know the feelings they have.

You watch players carefully read the defense, watching the hands and feet of the opposing player for a clue to what they'll do when the ball is snapped. You watch a man take a grinding tackle and feel the pain yourself, watch him get up and run the same play, knowing he'll be hit again.

Learning the rules and signals is easy; mastering the ins and outs of the offense and defense takes lots of watching and lots of questioning on the part of the viewer — almost as much instruction as the player himself receives.

And the men don't mind if the little woman tags along or watches the game on television on Sunday afternoon — as long as she cheers the same team.

Tobiassen - Craig Nuptials

Miss Deborah Tobiassen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Tobiassen of RD 1, Box 39, Saugerties, became the bride of Drew Craig Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Park, Saturday, Sept. 20 at St. Mary's of the Snow Church, Saugerties.

The Rev. John Hamilton officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Charles Dickman, organist, accompanied Charles Tobiassen uncle of the bride, who sang traditional wedding selections. Arrangement of chrysanthemums in the wedding colors decorated the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an A-line gown of satin-faced organza, fashioned with an empire bodice and long sleeves of Chantilly lace. Matching lace bordered the chapel length train. Her silk illusion veil was shirred to a stylized headpiece and she carried a bouquet of white stephanotis, centered with an orchid.

Virginia Tobiassen of Saugerties was honor attendant for her sister. She wore a gown of peacock blue Georgette, fashioned with a scooped neckline and long full sleeves. Satin rosebuds marked the empire waistline, and a stylized headpiece held her tulle filtration veil. She carried a bouquet of peacock blue chrysanthemums.

Attendants were Gail Abate, Soni Smith, Evelyn Myers, Patricia Sparling. Their azaela pink gowns and headpieces were fashioned identically to that of the honor attendant's and they carried bouquets of chrysanthemums to match their gowns.

Lenny Craig of Mt. Marion Park was best man for his brother. Ushers were cousins of the bride, Steve Nickolich and Vincent Giordano. Richard Downey, and Richard Bollin.

MRS. DREW CRAIG JR.

(Glenn Dale Studio)

A reception for 170 guests was held at Pollice's in Catskill. Mr. and Mrs. Craig took a wedding trip to Great Lakes, Ill.

The bride is a graduate of Saugerties High School, class of 1968. Her husband, a 1967 alumnus of Saugerties High School, is now serving in the U.S. Navy at Great Lakes.

Hints from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUISE

Dear Heloise:

I recently sent a greeting card to my two-year-old granddaughter, and as I was about to sign our names, I realized how meaningless our signatures would be to one too young to read.

So I decided to cut down a photograph and paste a picture of her grandfather and me on the card.

She loved it, and her mother suggested I send the hint to you.

Doting Grandmother

Sugar 'n' spice 'n' everything nice goes for grandmothers too! What a delightful idea that card will be carried around and loved until it's long eared.

Bless you, Heloise

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:

Want to know an easy, inexpensive way to clean an electric perculator without leaving an aftertaste?

Fill the pot with water to the usual line, put in the "insides" and add one package of orange-flavored soft drink mix (not pre-sweetened, just plain). Perk through the regular cycle and let sit for about 10 minutes. Then empty and clean with a soap pad.

Your coffee pot will be clean as a whistle, and it only costs you five cents!

But be sure to use ONLY orange a friend of mine used grape and had grape coffee for weeks!

Dorothy Collins

Dear Heloise: I have found a great way to keep the ends of my baton clean. First I wash the ends, then cover each with a small piece of plastic wrap, using a rubber band to hold it in place.

They stay clean as can be and the plastic is easily replaced if it becomes torn.

MR. AND MRS. HARVEY E. SIMPSON of Mt. Marion and Lake Park, Florida celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with an open house and reception for 100 guests on Sunday, Sept. 28, at the home of their son, Frank and his wife, at 411 Albany Avenue. The couple was married on September 24, 1919, at the home of Mrs. Simpson's parents at 81 Lincoln Street. She was the former Jane DeGraff. Officiating at the time was the late Rev. Wilbur Stowe, pastor of the Church of the Comforter. They were attended by Mrs. Roxie DeGraff Swart and the late Peter Dedrick. They are the grandparents of two children, Patricia who attends Ulster County Community College and Frank H. Simpson Jr. SF 3rd class who is stationed aboard the USS Fulton and resides in Glasco with his wife, the former Michele Mauro. (Freeman photo by Haines).

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE BROWN of Hurley celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday, Sept. 28 at a reception given by their children and members of the Women's Guild of Hurley Reformed Church. Married Oct. 1, 1919 by the Rev. Jesse F. Durfee, pastor of Hurley Reformed Church, at the Brink residence in Hurley, they have two children, Mrs. Robert T. Kingsbury who has four children and resides in Coventrytown and Robert G. Brown who has two stepsons and lives in Sylmar, Calif. Mr. and Mrs. Brown's attendants were Anna Brown Baylor and Sara Brink Dietz. Mrs. Brown is the former Myrtle Slater of Hurley. Her husband, who is semi-retired, works at Pitcairn's in Shokan. They have six great grandchildren. Out of town guests attended the reception from Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Connecticut, and Albany. The couple's son who was unable to be here Sunday will arrive with his wife on Oct. 10 for a week's stay. (Freeman photo by Haines).

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD WILLIAMS of Kingston celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at a party September 27 at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Herbert and Violet Williams, 42 First Avenue, Kingston. Many relatives and friends attended the event. Mrs. Williams is the former Sara Rockefeller of Catskill and was employed as matron of municipal auditorium. Her husband worked as custodian of municipal auditorium for the past 27 years before his retirement. He was well known in baseball as a pitcher and played with many teams throughout the Hudson Valley. He was inducted into the Old Timers Baseball Hall of Fame Association at a dinner in Gov. Clinton Hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Williams are very active and are enjoying their retirement. The have two grandchildren and a great grandchild. (Freeman photo by Krub).

Mrs. Eunice C. Bush, of Baton Rouge, La., has worked on a farm, in a furniture store and, since 1933, in insurance sales.

Her newest man of the year award is from the Mutual of New York life insurance company. It means she's tops.

Other man of the year awards were given her by the Baton Rouge Association of Life Underwriters and the Louisiana Association of Life Underwriters.

"Be natural," Mrs. Bush further advises women in business. "Never forget that you are a lady and never take advantage of that fact. And be cheerful at all times, even in the face of misfortune."

At the age of 23, she found herself with a young son, a widowed mother and a sister to support. Though she went to work and has been successful, she applauds mothers who are able to stay home with their families.

"If you need to work for a living, do so," she said. "I still believe the most wonderful career for a mother is being a homemaker. It is a real calling and a woman should be proud of that."

Although friends and relatives predicted she would starve when she went to work in the highly competitive, man-oriented insurance industry, she plunged in.

Mr. Bush, a widow, is a life member of the Million Dollar Round table, meaning she has sold at least $1 million of insurance a year three times; a member of the Baton Rouge Chamber of Commerce, and a director of the Camp Fire Girls.

She figures many youngsters of today have it "too easy."

"What they accomplish doesn't mean too much to some," she said. "I believe adversity builds character."

Through her adversity, a job in insurance was appealing. She could work evenings — and not neglect her responsibilities as the mother of a small child.

For that very reason, many mothers who must work are trying their hand at such a career today.

"HARMONY NIGHT QUARTET" — The Kingston Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America, Inc., will present its 10th annual "Evening of Barbershop Harmony" at the Kingston High School Auditorium Saturday night at 8 p. m. The "Audocrats" will be one of three quartets that will appear. Members of the group are (L.R.) Graham Franks, tenor; Bill McFadden, lead; Glenn Smith, baritone; and Don Guthrie, bass. The Audocrats are all residents of the Kingston area and have made many appearances in and around Kingston. The two other quartets appearing, whose pictures have appeared in The Kingston Freeman, will be the "Easterners" from New Jersey and The Free Lancers from Dundak, Maryland. Also being featured will be the "Kingsmen Chorus from Kingston. Tickets will be sold at the door or are available by calling Donald Gunzelmann in Hurley. (De Jongh photo).

Fall Socials Being Planned

Several fall socials were planned by Ladies Auxiliary of Hurley Fire Company at a covered dish supper meeting held in the firehouse for members and guests on September 15.

On Tuesday, Oct. 14, the Auxiliary will attend the regional meeting at Stone Ridge at which time Marlborough Ladies Auxiliary will be host.

President Marie Pilz requested all reservations for the masquerade dance to be held Saturday, Oct. 18 at the firehouse to be made by October 10 through Rose Burgher. Music for the dance will be provided by "The Music Makers." The public is invited.

The annual banquet will take place at Salvucci's Restaurant on Monday, Oct. 20. Members are asked to meet at 6:30 p.m. at the firehouse.

The Auxiliary maintains a "loan closet" at the Hurley Bank which is stocked with hospital bed, crutches, wheel chairs, and other necessary items. These are available free of charge to any resident of Old Hurley.

All women residing in the fire district are welcome to join the organization. Meetings are held on the third Monday of each month.

Election of Officers

Saugerties Society of Little Gardens will hold election of officers Wednesday, Oct. 8 at 1:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. George Sawatz.

The group held a workshop meeting recently on arrangements for the home, conducted by Mrs. George Jorgensen and Mrs. Donald Beckert, members of the club. The five basics, Line, Balance, Harmony, Rhythm and Contrast, were explained, as Mrs. Jorgensen and Mrs. Beckert created arrangements as illustrations.

Members were encouraged to express their individual tastes and color schemes when making arrangements for their own homes.

At the close of the demonstration, the club members made their own arrangements with materials brought from home.

Club president, Mrs. Frank Greco, conducted a short business meeting preceding the workshop. The annual luncheon will be held at the Sawyerkill Restaurant on Wednesday, Oct. 22. Reservations may be made with Mrs. William Waldele, luncheon chairman.

Refreshments were served by the committee including Mrs. John Whittenor, Mrs. John Noland and Mrs. Frank Greco.

Meeting Scheduled

The next monthly meeting of the Hellenic Women's Club will be held October 8 at the St. George Greek Orthodox Church hall, 294 Greenkill Avenue at 8 p.m. Presiding will be Mrs. Stamatis Bliziotis, president.

It is hoped that every member will be present as plans will be completed for the annual fall bazaar which will be held in the church hall on Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 15 and 16. Anyone wishing to donate goods for the bazaar may contact the chairman, Mrs. Theodore Couris or the co-chairman Mrs. Anthony Kirtson.

Luncheon Planned

A covered dish luncheon will be held Tuesday, Oct. 7 by Wiltwyck Homemaker's Club at noon in the meeting room at 410 Broadway, Kingston.

After the luncheon, a business meeting will take place. Those interested in making molded angels should attend.

Travel Talks

Woman's Club of YMCA will hold its first meeting of the fall season Thursday, Oct. 9 at 2:15 p.m., under the leadership of the new president, Mrs. Clair Sheaffer.

The program will consist of travel talks: "Sunny Sicily" by Mrs. Clarence Wolfersteig; and "Museums in Florence" by Miss Sarah Townsend.

The Club meets every second Thursday of the month at 2:15 o'clock at the YWCA, 209 Clinton Avenue, Kingston. All ladies of the community are invited to join. Guests are always welcome. Programs include art, music, history and travel. Anyone desiring information on membership should contact Mrs. John Burns, Kingston.

Officers Installed

Officers of Red Hook Jaycees were installed September 12, prior to their meeting at Red Hook Grange on Tuesday, Sept. 23.

Mrs. Joel Fox, president, submitted the budget which was accepted by the membership.

Jaycees will receive their charter at the State Convention to take place Oct. 18 at the Laurels.

Members have been working on such Jaycee projects as Operation Mississippi, the Rhinebeck Horse Show, Children's Halloween party which has been scheduled for Oct. 30 at the VFW Hall.

The next meeting will be held Oct. 28 at Red Hook Grange.

Beef Supper

Shokan Lodge No. 491 will hold its annual roast beef supper Saturday, Oct. 11 at the Lodge rooms in Olivebridge. Family style servings will start at 4:30 p.m.

Kasko Named as Replacement for Williams

BOSTON (UPI)—Eddie Kasko, "organization man," was named the new manager of the Boston Red Sox today. Despite a series of security precautions designed to prevent a "leak" of the announcement, Williams has been a successful Boston Red Sox today.

BUMS' HAVE LAST WORD — Members of the Bleacher Bums tug on end of black cloth they brought to drape over the New York Mets dugout during game in Wrigley Field yesterday. Mets in dugout tugged harder and pulled cloth down. Mets at left are Ed Charles and Donn Clendenon (22). (UPI TELEPHOTO).

It was obvious that Red Sox owner Tom Yawkey planned to dip into his own organization once again for selection of a new manager.

Kasko Impressive
Kasko, a balding 39, impressed the multi-billionaire Red Sox owner during three seasons of managing Boston's top farm club, Toronto, later Louisville of the International League.

Kasko, whose team finished second in the regular 1969 season and was knocked out in the opening round of the playoffs, got the nod over two other experienced candidates already in the organization, former Minnesota manager Sam Mele and ex Athletics pilot Haywood Sullivan. Mele has been serving as a special Boston scout and Sullivan as director of player personnel.

Kasko has been treading in the footsteps of the departed but spectacularly successful Williams who was fired last week with a $50,000 year remaining on his three season contract. Like Williams, Kasko was a 10-year major league veteran who wound up his career with the Red Sox and obviously impressed Yawkey, though he played in only 58 games during his only Boston season, 1966.

Named By GM
Kasko's name was first raised by Boston general manager Dick O'Connell during the press conference in which he confirmed that Williams had been fired, despite a three-season career in which 5.3 million fans fought their way into tiny Fenway Park. Williams was summarily fired after a season in which the Red Sox, beset by pitching problems, dipped to third place in the American League East Division.

Williams was summarily fired after a season in which the Red Sox, beset by pitching problems, dipped to third place in the American League East Division.

"Impossible Dream"
Boston had won an "Impossible Dream" pennant in 1967 which was not unlike the current New York Mets' surge. But the Red Sox dipped to fourth place last season after blowing a chance to finish third in the final game. They had appeared headed for a fourth place windup behind record setting Baltimore, 1968 pennant-winning Detroit and resurgent Washington this season before rallying during Williams' firing to sweep a four game set.

Miraculous Mets Win 100

(By the UPI)
Would you believe 100 victories for the New York Mets. More victories than any of Casey Stengel's New York Yankee pennant winners in the American League, and surpassed by only three National League flag winners in the last 24 years?

The Pittsburgh Pirates defeated the Montreal Expos, 5-4, the San Diego Padres downed the San Francisco Giants, 9-4, the St. Louis Cardinals nipped the Philadelphia Phillies, 6-5, and the Los Angeles Dodgers topped the Houston Astros, 5-2, in other NL games.

Namath Now Qualifies New Retirement Story

NEW YORK (AP) — Quarterback Joe Namath of the New York Jets says "there's no doubt in my mind right now that this is probably my last year as a pro football player." Namath said Wednesday that reports of his retirement at the end of this season are "not official at this point. It's just a logical thing."

The flamboyant Super Bowl star with the steel arm and porcelain knees said "I can't practice and it's getting to the point where I can't perform the way I should." Namath's knee injuries have always raised the question of how long he'll stay in football. The question came up again Tuesday night in Boston where Namath told Pat Collins of WBZ-TV "I can practically guarantee that" when asked if this season would be his last. "If I can play I will. If I can't I won't," Namath said Wednesday after his return to New York. Namath has had three operations on his knees since he signed a $400,000 contract five seasons ago to play with the Jets. "If my legs were to get better I'd want to play," he said. "But right now, they're bad. It's ridiculous. Football is an enjoyable thing to me but not under these conditions. Some games my knees don't hurt as much as in others. It depends on how long I'm on my feet. But they're always a problem."

Namath said his knees started bothering him towards the end of training camp. He said the left knee began hurting after the Minnesota preseason game and that the right one was hurt in the American Football League opener against Buffalo Sept. 14, became a pro.

Key Games Head Slate in UCAL Football Action

By MORT LAFFIN

KINGSTON Football action continues to be hot and heavy this weekend in the Ulster County Athletic League as four key games are on tap. The schedule finds New Paltz at Pine Bush, Onteora at Marlboro, Rondout at Wallkill and Liberty at Highland.

All four of these games are important because their outcomes may give the fans an idea of what trend certain teams in the league may follow.

In what was to rate as one of the biggest tilts as far as fan interest goes will be Liberty at Highland. Highland took the opening non-league game over Saugerties and then came right back in the league opener to defeat defending champion Rondout Valley. Coach Lem Atkins boys also stopped the Gander's string at 20 wins over three seasons.

John Indelicato will again be at quarterback. He will be flanked by Tony Biancardi, Cos Trapani and Bill Henderson. Hardy Marx, Doug Geer and Frank Crimi also add a lot of punch to the Highlanders' attack.

Redskins Must Win

Liberty had defeated Honesdale, 32-0, in the first game for the Redskins, showing a lot of offense. However, they bogged down against Pine Bush, dropping the tilt, 18-16. The Redskins are led by Scott Kalina, Tim Kelly, Don Yuan and Russ Richards.

If Highland wins, Liberty will probably be all but eliminated from the race, while Highland will still rate as the early favorite to take the UCLA crown.

Bushmen vs. New Paltz

Pine Bush and New Paltz will face each other in a "must" game for each one. Pine Bush must win so as not to lose any ground to the other leaders. New Paltz must win it, showing its strength to come back after a 28-6 loss to Marlboro.

Ganders vs. Wallkill

Rondout Valley travels to Wallkill for what will probably be a "get well quick" game for the Ganders. The defending champs were knocked off by Highland last week, while the home side was walloped by Onteora, 34-6.

Onteora vs. Marlboro

By now, everyone in the area knows that Onteora is coming back off a no-competition year and had lost every experienced player on campus. Everyone is also beginning to realize that the Indians aren't as bad as one might think and are beginning to figure into the pennant picture.

Players like quarterback Jim Smith, Gary Chauncey, Tom Kriesman, Dennis Gale and Bill Mellert, plus an outstanding line and a great coaching job by Larry Karas and his staff have made the Indians a team to be reckoned with.

Marlboro, on the other hand features the fine passing of Dan Passante, the receiving of Rich Fischer and Ken Brooks and the running of possible All-UCAL selection Bruce Partington. The Ducks are trying to make believers of everyone and will be going all out against the Indians.

If Karas' team gets by the Ducks Saturday, the rafters will ring with joy in Boiceville.

Rhyne Is Now No. 5 In New Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was a 19th ranking for Lenoir Rhyne. Then it was 45-0. Now it's No. 5 in The Associated Press small college football poll.

Lenoir Rhyne trounced Presbyterian 45-0 last Saturday and vaulted from 19th to fifth place in the weekly poll released Wednesday.

The top three teams held their position, but there was a major shake-up in the lower rankings.

No. 1 North Dakota State received seven of 14 first-place votes and 228 points after drubbing the University of Nebraska-Omaha 41-7 for its third victory of the season, 13th straight and 51st in its last 55 games.

Second is Indiana, Pa. State with 167 points, followed by Grambling with 110.

In other changes in the Top Ten, Northern Arizona University fell from fourth to eighth after being whipped 52-7 by Montana and Arkansas State fell from fifth to 16th after being beaten 14-10 by The Citadel, a major college team.

in three outings in the UCAL triangular meet here on the 2.2 mile course.

The Highlanders edged the Bushmen by a 25-30 margin and routed Onteora 15-42. Pine Bush topped the Indians, 18-39. Pine Bush took first place as George Shurtler was clocked in an even 12 minutes. But, it was the solid performances of the Highlanders Charles Dunn, John Crawford and Jacob Reese who placed second, third and fourth in that order, to defeat the Bushmen who are the UCAL defending champions.

Dunn came home in 12:08 while Crawford clocked 12:19 and Reese finished two seconds behind him. Fifth place went to Al Mercurio of the Bushmen and teammate Dario Diaz took sixth seven seconds later.

Highland's Ralph Perry finished seventh at 12:40, one second ahead of David Baxter of the Bushmen. Onteora's first runner across the finish line was John Stay at 12:53 in tenth spot, while the Indians Lonnie VanWagoner and Jack Stahl took eleventh and twelfth in that order.

The upset of Pine Bush left Highland the only unbeaten team in the UCAL with a 4-0 record. Wallkill and Pine Bush are tied with 2-1 records for second, while Onteora and New Paltz have a 1-2 mark. Rondout and Marlboro have 0-2 records.

Eighteen runners in the field of 36 finished within one minute and 20 seconds of the best time. At one point three finished within one second of each other and eight came across the finish line within 19 seconds of each other.

Saugerties to Face Lourdes Eleven

By MORT LAFFIN

KINGSTON Saugerties High School's football team travels to Poughkeepsie for a Dutchess County Scholastic League tilt with Our Lady of Lourdes at Riverview Field. The Sawyers will be looking for their first victory of the season, while Lourdes will be after their second win in League competition.

Kapp Named Number One

NEW YORK (AP) — When people talk about the Minnesota Vikings they usually start with the phrase: "If they only had a quarterback..." Not any more.

Joe Kapp's record tying seven touchdown passes Sunday, equalling the feats of Sid Luckman, Y.A. Tittle and Adrian Burk, moved him back in front of Gary Cuozzo, who played while Kapp rode the bench in the opener at New York.

Kapp's performance made him a sure thing for The Associated Press nomination as Offensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

Boos usually greet Kapp but there was a standing ovation of cheers when he finished his day's work against Baltimore with a 52-14 win. To Joe, a rough, tough man with the face of a street fighter, it was a most welcome sound.

Kapp left the game in the third quarter with a cracked bone in his left wrist, a souvenir of a meeting with Bubba Smith who was kept off his back most of the day by tackle Doug Davis.

When it was realized that Kapp, who had thrown six touchdown passes, needed only five yards to break Fran Tarkenton's Viking record of 407 yards, Kapp went back in. Once the record was broken he came out again but Cuozzo suffered a broken nose on the third play. As a result, Kapp went back and got TD No. 7, a 15-yard pass to Jim Lindsey.

ing for their first victory of the season, while Lourdes will be after their second win in League competition.

Cardinal Farley Military Academy's eleven takes on the Pioneers of Poughkeepsie in another DCSL Central Section encounter. Other games on the Dutchess County slate include Beacon at Arlington, Pawling at Dover in a Bi-Valley game and non-league tilts with Ellenville traveling to Millbrook, and Carmel coming up to Red Hook.

The Sawyers dropped a heart-breaker to Arlington, 16-14, in the last quarter. Coach Fred Seither's boys will be looking to put it altogether in this one. Holley Carnright continues to excel at quarterback, as Lyn fit.

Whiteford, Mark Ishkanian and John Carnright help out on offense.

The defense is paced by line-backer Ray Fuller, who does an outstanding job and is also one of the best high school punters in the Hudson Valley.

Warriors Tough

Not too much is known about Coach Dick Beams Warriors, other than the fact that they tied a tough Goshen team and dumped the Bulldogs of Beacon in their first DCSL game.

Lourdes plays a conservative type of ball-control game, with a liberal amount of "flea-flicker" plays designed to surprise teams and go all the way. The defense is a hard-nosed out-excel at quarterback, as Lyn fit.

The Cadets will have their hands full in Poughkeepsie as Coach Don Smith's Pioneers rate as favorites to win the DCSL Central Section. Cadet Coach Steve Nash is in his first year and will be trying various combinations offensively and defensively to combat the hard-pressing attack of the home squad. Smith's boys dropped Mt. Vernon in their opening game, 25-8.

Red Hook vs. Carmel

Red Hook was defeated by Onteora in the opening game and then were nipped by Pine Plains, 7-6, in a Bi-Valley encounter. Carmel is a hard-charging squad that will present more problems for Coach Ron Black.

SWANSONG — Stanley Dancer heads for home behind Nevele Pride for a victory in 2:01.4 in the $15,000 Greyhound Trot at Monticello Raceway. This was the farewell appearance for The Pride at the Mighty M, which is considered the home base for the great trotter.

Freight Takes All In Mighty M Feature

MONTICELLO — An ancient but indomitable 12-year-old gelding, Legal Freight, with Jim Grundy in the sulky, was the winner of the featured fourth race pace at Monticello on Wednesday night when he beat out a field of seven to gain the win in 2:08 flat.

Legal Freight did not take the lead, however, until the field reached the three-quarter pole, which he passed in 1:30.1. Legal Freight had been right up there, though, from the start of the contest, but was sitting comfortably just behind Johnny Gold, John Gilmour at the reins.

Johnny Gold established the other fractions of :30.2 and 1:03.2, but after Legal Freight made his bid, he vanished to the rear to come in fifth. The place position was taken by Modock Time, Ken Heeney the driver, and it was Nifty's Steppy, Robert Fesh driving, who came in for show.

The 3 and 1 daily double at Monticello on Wednesday night that produced a payoff of $70.60 had some interesting equine statistics attached to it. For both entries concerned it was their first win in 1969; and for the victor of the second pace, it

The more remarkable victory in Wednesday night's daily double had to be accorded to the winner of the second pace, Sharp Salute, Sharp Salute, a 3-year-old colt out of Sharp-shooter-Arrivederci, had originally been tutored as a trotter, and raced as such both last year and for a large part of this. In mid-summer, his present trainer and Wednesday night's driver, Mario Marchi, decided to switch his gait.

Sweet Revenge

Wiltwyck Women Rout Woodstock

KINGSTON — The results of the return match between the Wiltwyck and Woodstock women golfers at Wiltwyck Country Club were not surprising. The host swingers got ample revenge for a recent drubbing by trouncing the villagers, 30-18, at the more spacious Wiltwyck links.

Sixteen matches were played and Wiltwyck won 11, three in 3-0 sweeps.

Woodstock, 43½-16½ winners in the first match at the village links, salvaged the No. 1 match in which Mrs. A. J. (Wiggie) DeLisio carded low gross of 83 to defeat Mrs. Richard Davenport, 3-0.

The other Woodstock sweep was scored by Mrs. Ida Morey over Mrs. Kenneth Lowe. Mrs. Clifford Spiesman of Wiltwyck defeated Mrs. Alex Sharpe, Jr. in the No. 2 match, 3-0. Mrs. Robert Davenport and Mrs. Lowe accounted for the other Wiltwyck 3-0 sweeps.

Mrs. Bernard Carpinelli won two matches for Wiltwyck, defeating Mrs. Peter Lawson and Mrs. J. Lawson by identical, 2½-½ margins.

In other key matches, Mrs. Joseph Fitzsimmons of Woodstock edged Mrs. Arthur Motzkin, 2-1, and Mrs. Allen Dean Elwyn won over Mrs. Howard DeWitt, 2½-½.

The results:

Mrs. A. J. DeLisio (Wd) defeated Mrs. Richard Davenport, 3-0; Mrs. Clifford Spiesman (Wilt), over Mrs. Alex Sharpe Jr., 3-0.

Mrs. Joseph Fitzsimmons (Wd) over Mrs. Arthur Motzkin, 2-1; Mrs. Sidney Pauker (Wilt) over Mrs. Walter Van Wageningen, 2½-½; Mrs. Allen Dean Elwyn (Wd) over Mrs. Howard DeWitt, 2½-½.

Dear Abby

'Impossible' Marriage

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1969 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I fight all the time. I have begged him to see a marriage counselor with me, but he refuses saying he doesn't need anybody to tell him how to run his life. We have three kiddies or I would have left him long ago.

I have spoken to my pastor, a marriage counselor, a lawyer, my family doctor, and I even went to a psychiatrist, thinking maybe it was MY fault. They all told me they couldn't help me unless my husband came in. And if he refuses to come in, I should leave him.

I would like your opinion, and the opinion of some of your readers who may have had the same experience. Is it better to raise children in a home where there is no love, or in a home where there is no father?

NEEDS TO KNOW: Some misguided wives who cling to an impossible marriage "for the sake of the children" should leave for that reason. If you have really tried, and I believe you have, I can't give you any better advice than the others.

DEAR ABBY: I am a transplanted Texan, having lived most of my life in Colorado. I like Texas, and wouldn't mind spending the rest of my life here, but I work for a company with offices spread all over the country and I have no guarantee that I won't be transferred.

I met a very nice girl here and the subject of marriage came up. She said she would marry me tomorrow IF (and here is where the problem comes in) I promised her we would never move out of TEXAS.

Abby, I told her I couldn't make her that kind of promise on account of my job, and she said, yes, I could. I could refuse to leave Texas, or take a job with another company if they tried to transfer me.

I've got a lot of seniority built up with this company, and I sure wouldn't want to lose it, but I really do like this little girl and don't know what to do. What do you say?

JIMMY: DEAR JIMMY: I say keep looking. And don't stop until you find a girl who will gladly go wherever the guest.

DEAR ABBY: Is it proper for a man to show off an engagement ring to his family, friends and co-workers before presenting it to his fiancée? I thought an engagement ring was a private, almost sacred gift to be placed on a girl's finger before others viewed it.

My fiancé lives about 100 miles from here and he's coming in this week-end and bringing me the engagement ring, but I have heard (from my girl friend who lives in his town) that his whole family and nearly half the town have already seen it.

How should I handle this situation? Should I refuse the ring? I am 24. He is 30, which is old enough to know better, wouldn't you say?

ANNOYED: DEAR ANNOYED: Your childish reaction shows you to be more in need of "growing up" than your fiancé. And if you would even consider refusing the ring for this petty reason, I wonder if YOU are old enough to be married.

CONFIDENTIAL TO LOUISE: Place a piece of raw beefsteak over your eye, then place a close stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Horoscope By SIDNEY OMARR

It's In The Stars

("The wise man controls his destiny . . . astrology points the way.")

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1969

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Might be wise to leave details to others. You have tendency today to look so far ahead that you neglect basics. Excellent social time indicated. But not so good for essential tasks.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Avoid unnecessary journeys. You could receive message written in anger from relative. Give things time to jell. All facts are not in. Be versatile and show off your smile.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Protect assets. Avoid tendency to act on impulse. Not smart to commit yourself to long-range financial programs. Ask questions. Go beyond the superficial.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Avoid senseless disputes with mate, partner. Not so good for legal maneuvers. Key is to be independent without appearing arrogant. Make peace at home.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): You may not find it easy to be discreet. Secrets exhibit tendency to reveal themselves. What was hidden is shown and even put on display. Maintain dignity—and confidence.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Some associates, friends seem to have serious disagreements. Don't get caught in middle. Do your best to maintain peace. Be fair, but firm. And refuse to take blame for another's action.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): People in authority may be in mood to argue. Don't compound error. Keep cool. You are finishing one phase of activity—you will soon begin another. Applies to personal and professional areas.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): What was a far-away desire comes close. A confrontation is likely today. Key is to be original and to adhere to principles. Don't back down; obstacles are healthy challenges.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): money question comes to fore. Strive to settle it in amiable manner. Be receptive. If you co-operate with mate, partner, then a major obstacle is hurdled. You will gain.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): One close to you may appear to be aching for showdown. Be flexible. Not wise to insist on having everything your way. Emotional storm will pass. Act accordingly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Stick to basic course of action. Clear away assignments which had been neglected. Be aware of apparent minor details. You could make a discovery of value.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Clear emotional air. Frank discussion with member of opposite sex is necessary. Requests by children may be out of line. Avoid being dogmatic. But insist on common sense.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are artistic, expressive and attractive. But, many times, you try too much. Perfect technique before trying to break the rules. Some restrictions are due to be lifted. You could publish and travel.

lackey (LAK ee) a person who performs simple tasks such as opening doors, delivery messages, etc. Many a young boy, especially in European countries, are employed as lackeys. A well-dressed lackey appeared at the door to welcome the newly arrived guests.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

HORSE LAUGHS: (Q.) I am a very good rider but my boy friend is terrified of horses. The last time our group went riding the other guys laughed at him because he wouldn't get on a horse.

I was once afraid, too. I was watching my girl friend ride one day when the horse threw her and trampled her. She died. The first time I rode after that, the horse threw me. But I kept trying and now I'm not afraid.

Do you think I could teach my boy friend to ride and not be afraid. I would like to help him.—Once That Way in Detroit.

(A.) Your boy friend should be thankful for having such a considerate girl. Tell him of your experiences and how you overcame your fear. Tell him you're confident he can do the same thing and that you'd like to help him. Tell him you'll ride with just him and that the others need not know about the lesson.

Don't tell him, "I won't laugh at you." Just say, "I understand because I've been there."

BOSSY MOM: (Q.) My mother is very bossy. She doesn't like for me to wear pants. I look good in pants and my boy friend likes them on me, but he doesn't argue with my mother.

She says even when we're married I can't wear them. What can I do? We're planning to get married very soon.—E. in Philadelphia.

(A.) While you are living with your parents you are wise to follow the rules they set up. After you are married, you and your husband will decide what you wear, as well as other details of your lives.

Most mothers know this. Your mother may learn it on her own. If she doesn't, you may have to tell her.

Today's hand might well be titled, "Look before you ruff!"

West opens the king of clubs against South's contract of four hearts doubled and continues with the ace. If South ruffs this trick, he is not going to make his contract but if South is alert he will simply discard his losing spade and leave West on lead.

There is no reason to make this play. That spade is a sure loser at some stage of the game. Why not lose it right away and leave West on lead?

West is left on lead, he can lead any one of three suits. His choice is unimportant, since any one of the leads is a loser.

If he leads a club, South wins in dummy and discards a diamond. Then he takes the diamond finesse, cashes the ace

Majestic Critical Of Court Ruling

GARDINER voided, his candidacy for both posts was "unjust."

Town of Gardiner Supervisor, George Majestic, has called a court ruling denying his petitions to run for two political posts, "contrary to the principles of American democracy."

Earlier this week, the State Supreme Court ruled against three separate petitions filed by Majestic. He sought reelection to his town post on the Democratic and Anti-Sales Tax tickets and election to the office of county legislator from the Eighth District on the Anti-Sales Tax ticket.

Justice Edward S. Conway rejected all three petitions. Conway ruled that, by attempting to run for two political offices simultaneously, the Gardiner Supervisor was in violation of the state's election laws.

Asked to comment on the court's decision Majestic told the Freeman that he felt the ruling was a "low blow" and that "it did a great disservice to local government."

Conceding that his bid to run for two political offices at the same time might have been improper, Majestic went on to say that the decision which

Subdivision Scored By Wawarsing Dems

By BRUCE KAUFMAN

ELLENVILLE Democrats here have scored the Republican dominated Wawarsing Town Board for "hastily approving" a lengthy series of subdivision regulations which they contend are essentially "superfluous."

The regulations were adopted by the town board last May, upon recommendation of the Town of Wawarsing Planning Board. The 45 page document specifies various conditions which must be adhered to before landowners can subdivide their property.

A subdivision is the division of any parcel of land into two or more lots for the purpose of transfer of ownership.

The Democrats, led by Joseph Stoekeler, candidate for town supervisor, charge that the regulations were railroaded through the town board and that the public is for the most part opposed to them.

Stoekeler points out that there are sufficient regulations pertaining to the subdividing of property contained in the codes of the Ulster County Board of Health and that the new regulations are unnecessary.

Moreover, Stoekeler feels that the regulations will hinder the growth of the township because of the procedural guidelines which must be adhered to.

Specifically Stoekeler makes reference to the fact that even if a property owner wants to give away land he must have the plans approved by the town and is required to pay a $25 fee.

Contacted by The Freeman, Town of Wawarsing Supervisor, Frank Harkin, countered the charges put forth by the Democrats.

First, Harkin denies that the regulations were railroaded. He noted, there were two public hearings held by the planning board and considerable advance preparation.

Harkin explains that unregulated growth in a town like Wawarsing can cause "considerable problems" noting that the regulations adopted by the board are "designed to protect property and home buyers."

"It is simply a document that will control the development of the community," Harkin says.

However, Harkin does agree with Stoekeler and his Democratic colleagues, that certain aspects of the 45 page document should be modified.

He says that amendments are now pending before the town board to ease the requirements pertaining to minor subdivisions and to reduce the procedural fee from $25 to $10.

INTRODUCING...
A REVOLUTIONARY
NEW COLOR TV
SYSTEM

ZENITH
CHROMACOLOR

23" giant-screen

color TV console

Modern styled console with the exciting new low look. Genuine oil finished Walnut veneers and select hardwood solids, exclusive of decorative front.

A revolutionary new color television system featuring a revolutionary new color picture tube that outcolors outbrightens outdetails and outperforms every other giant-screen color TV!

FIBERGLASS With Aluminum Foil Face

INSULATION

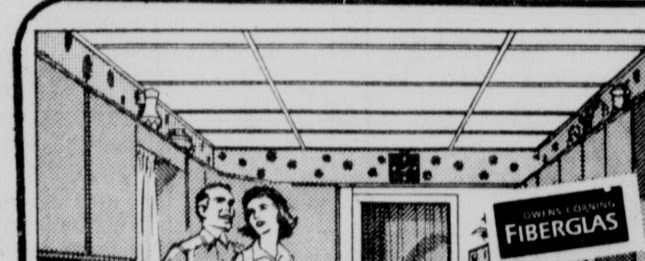

STANDARD THICKNESS:

Fiberglass insulation is very efficient. Millions of tiny air sacs actually trap cold air, keeps it out. The aluminum foil reflective face turns back radiant heat. Thus, more comfort this Winter as you save fuel. Next Summer your air conditioner will work easier, better! Won't shrink. It's fire and moisture resistant too. Easy to install.
